Throughout our four years of high school, we experience a variety of ups and downs, good times and bad times, hard work and pleasure. Because of these experiences, we are constantly growing, learning, and becoming more aware of the world in which we live.

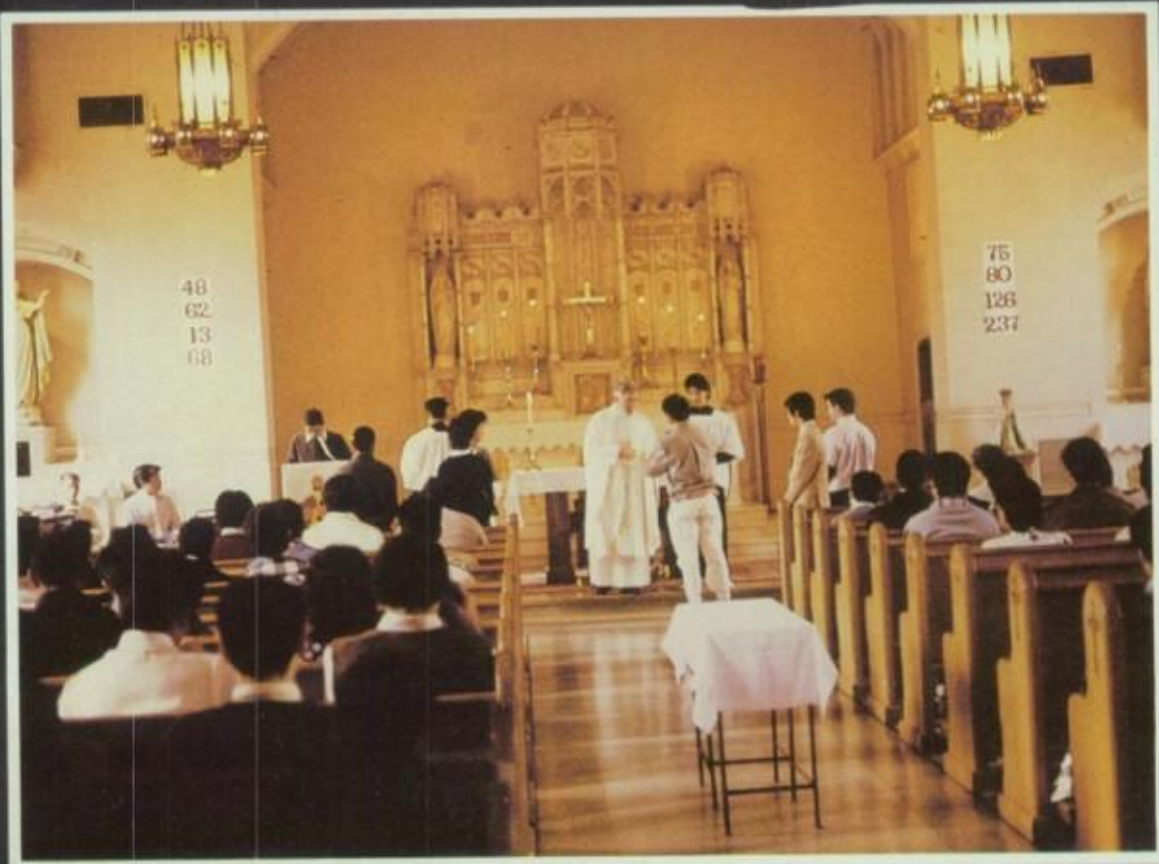

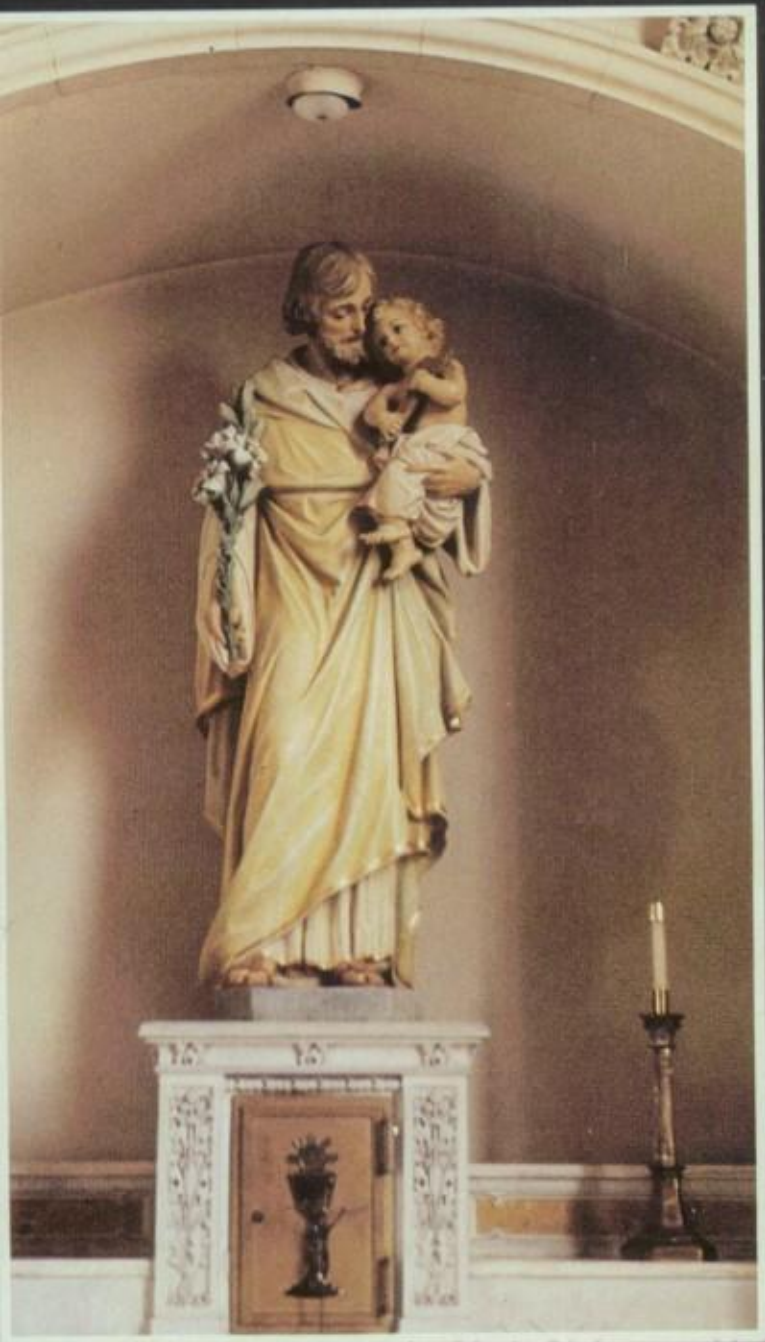

Being at Daniel Murphy, we all share in the day to day life of the larger school community. Yet, at the same time, we often experience high school life on our own terms in uniquely individual ways. Our Time focuses on the collective and individual Murphy experience.

Our Time is . . .

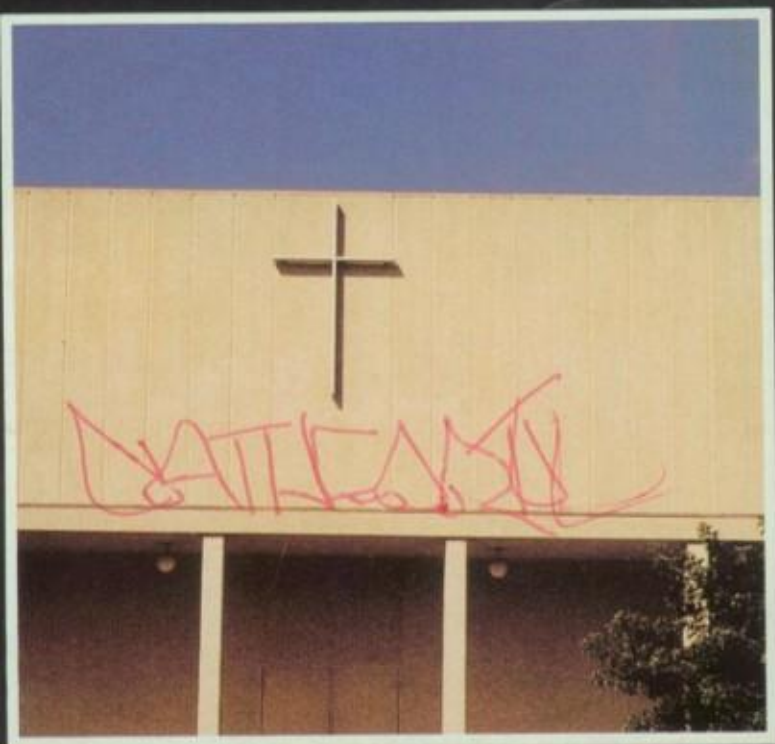

... a time for finding and understanding ourselves through God, . . .

Monthly Masses and opportunities for prayer contributed to the spiritual aspect of Murphy life. Retreats and days of recollection gave students the chance to reflect on their lives, to ask themselves where they are going, and what they are planning to do.

... a time for learning an exploring new horizons, . . .

Class discussions, lectures, labs, library work, and long hours of study contributed to the academic growth of Daniel Murphy High School students.

... a time for laughs and go times in student activities.

The traditional Daniel Murphy High School Noble Week activities set off a spark of school spirit in everyone. Pep-ratons, sporting events, dancing and other activities gave students opportunities to show their school spirit in extracurricular activities.

Reverend Richard A. Loomis Principal

Dear Seniors,

Daniel Murphy Catholic High School has had a long and distinguished history as an educational institution. Starting from our beginning as Los Angeles College in 1926, right up to the present graduating class and student body, we have every right to be justifiably proud.

Over the years, there have been great accomplishments in academics, in athletics, and in service to the community. In this fifty-ninth year, you have every right to be proud, also. Your class has made a fine academic record, with students accepted to outstanding colleges and universities throughout the nation. Your class has added to the athletic reputation of the school through your share in earning league championships in basketball and track and field. Your class is especially remembered by the community for its part in food, clothing, and toy drives during the Advent and Lenten seasons. You have done many noble deeds and have stood by noble things.

As you continue on your way through life, remember the values that have given you your high-school years. Continue to support the noble values and deeds of life and you will continue to be happy and fulfilled.

May God bless you all the days of your life!

PAX!

Mr. James Daly

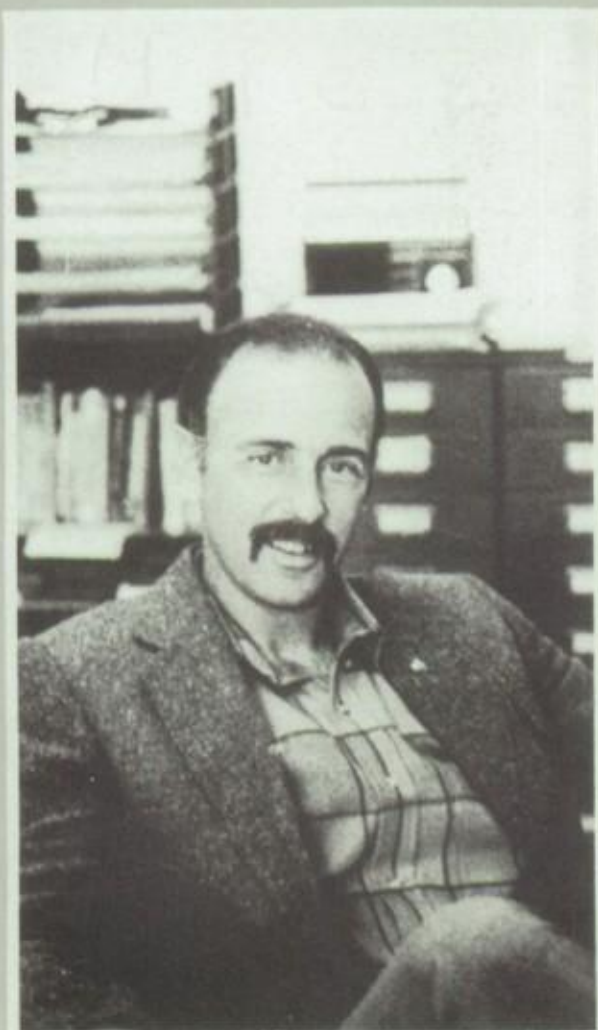

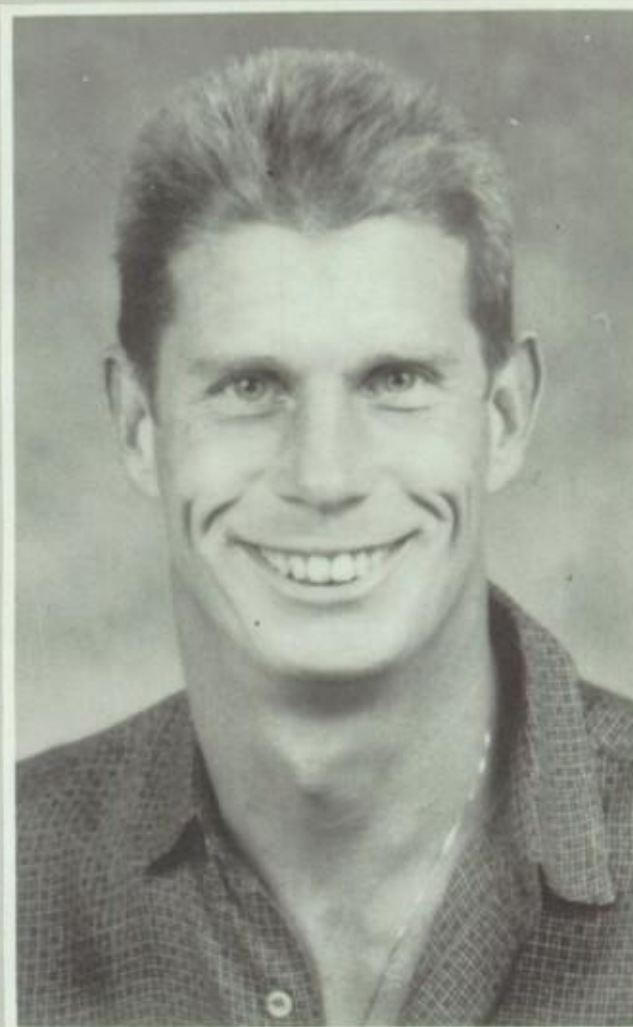

Vice-Principal, Dean of Studies

Mr. James Daly came to Daniel Murphy in 1983 as a Sophomore and Junior English teacher. His hard work and dedication helped greatly in the initiation of many new policies this past year at Murphy. He gave a lot of himself and of his time to anyone who needed help.

In 1985, Mr. Daly became the Dean of Studies but, because of illness had to leave during the second semester.

We shall all miss Mr. Daly and we hope that he will soon be well enough to return to Murphy.

— The Yearbook Staff

Mr. Terry Mathews

Dean of Students

Every class has its own character. A personality that we can label them with for future references and say, "The Class of 1986 — I remember them well."

Years from now, I will recall the Class of 1986 as an independently "fun" group of men strong in personal convictions and openly unabashed fun. Yet, with the "fun" side of their character came cooperation. I can't recall, in my ten years at Daniel Murphy, a more cooperative group — responsive, level-headed, and vibrant.

It is my sincere hope to all of you that you will carry out into the world those qualities that have made you an integral part of what in June will be the history of this institution. As your teacher, coach, dean, or just faculty member, thanks for the memories and may the wind be always at your back.

Love,

Terry Mathews

Mr. Michael Yuhasz

College Counselor

Dear Seniors,

Welcome to Adventureland! Almost everything you do from now on will be because of decisions you make. Your successes and failures will be a result of decisions. In other words, Life is truly your Adventure. Make it worthwhile. Don't be afraid of risk or change, but don't make hasty or whimsical decisions just for the sake of change. Weigh your choices carefully and always keep your options open. There is a safety net under you, a fall isn't too scary. Use your Adventure experience as much of life that is possible. Don't limit yourself mentally, spiritually, or geographically because of fear of change, or because of fear of failure. Or, if you limit yourself, you stop growing. And the most fun about an Adventure is looking at the changes around you and in you. Good luck!

I wish the best of everything to all of you!

Mr. James Tinker

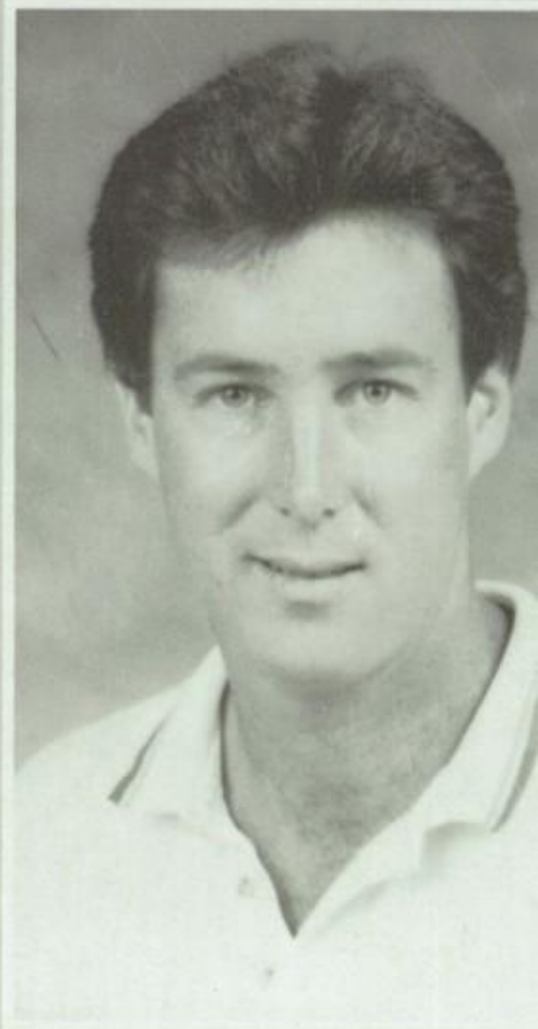

Athletic Director

Farewell to the class of 1986. I wish to congratulate you on your accomplishments here at Daniel Murphy and I wish you the best of luck in the challenges that face you in your future. As the Athletic Director, I would like to take this opportunity to remind you of your accomplishments in athletics.

1. The "1982 Frosh-Soph Football Team" that played for the league championship.
2. The "1984 J.V. Basketball" team that were co-champions.
3. The "Tennis" teams that competed in the CIF playoffs each of your four years.
4. The "1986 Baseball" team that is challenging for the CIF playoffs.
5. The two time "All League" performance of Stan Marker in golf.
6. The 1984, 1985, and 1986 Track teams that won three consecutive league champions.
7. The 1985 CIF 2A Basketball Champions.

This is proof that your class is a winner. What you have learned through these experiences will help you to be winners in the game of life. I hope you remember that it takes dedication, loyalty, honesty, confidence, and team spirit (family) to be a success.

I leave you with this thought by John Wooden who has always helped me in my life: "Success is peace of mind which is a direct result of self-satisfaction in knowing that you did your best to become the best that you are capable of becoming."

Noble Week

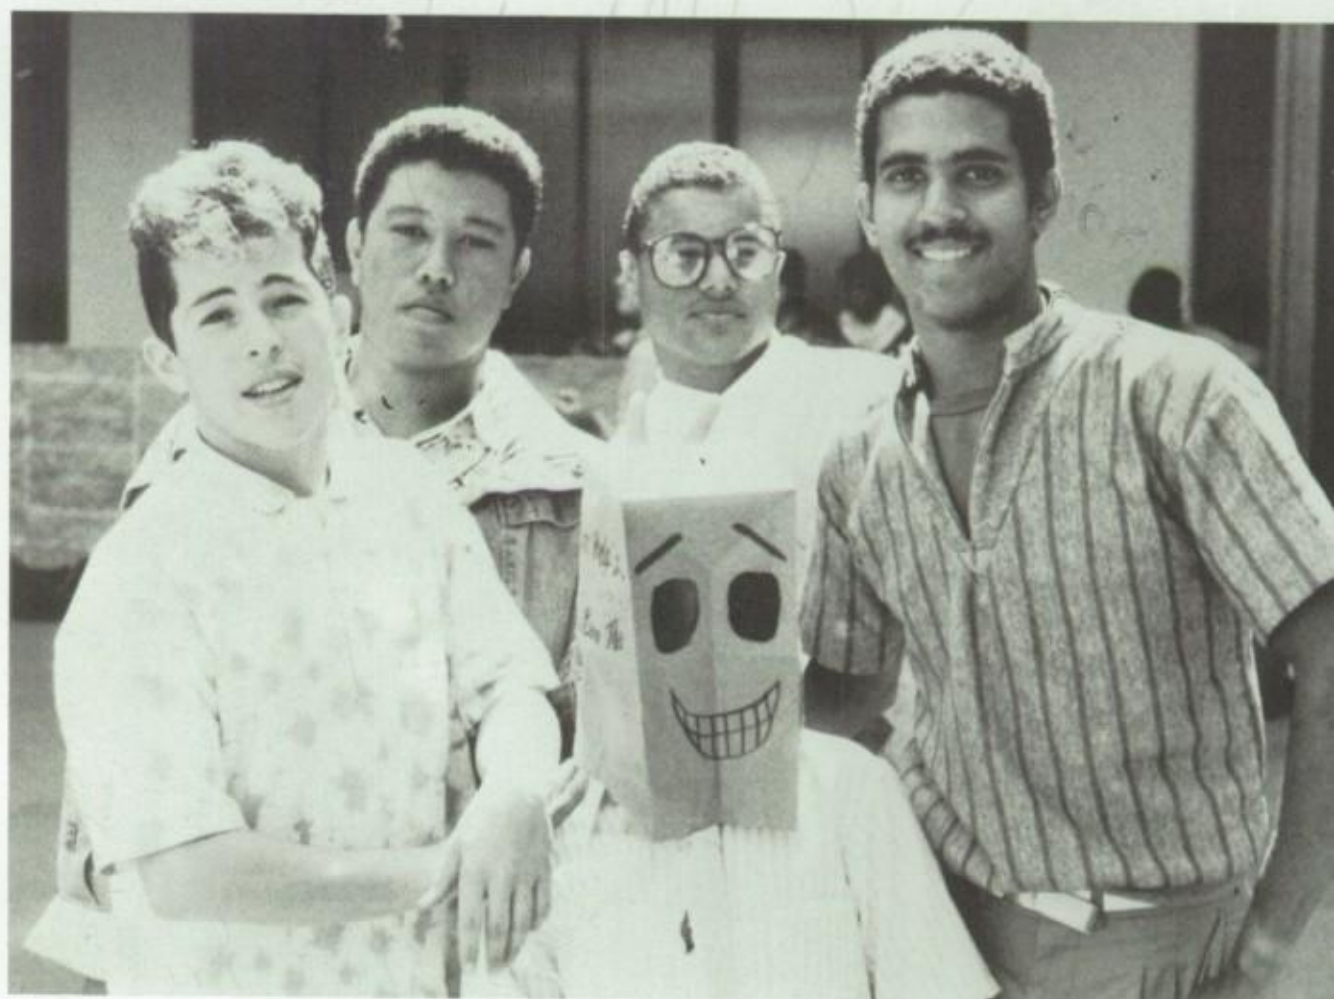

Once again, the Daniel Murphy Noble Spirit manifested itself in the annually celebrated ritual of Noble Week. Blank-faced, wide-eyed freshmen were welcomed into the Murphy family by an overdose of senior high-spiritedness and good-natured fun. This (uh-hum) initiation process, by which every incoming freshman class is welcomed, provided the entire school with a week filled with activities that culminated with the traditional freshman-senior picnic. The week's activities included a freshman versus senior water balloon fight, a costume contest for the "best-dressed freshman," and the muscle-matching tug-of-war that locked the freshman and the senior class in intense combat.

On the last day, this spirit of competition gave way to a more fraternal attitude as both classes enjoyed a fun-filled day at the park complete with music, games, food, and drinks (non-alcoholic, of course). And so, yet another freshman class completes Noble Week and embarks on the journey through the ups and downs of high school while the senior class begins to leave behind the fun and games in view of a more sober life ahead.

Varsity Football

The 1985 Daniel Murphy Varsity football team took to the field this season under a new head coach, Mr. John Finn.

Although a 2-8 record would usually be considered a disappointing season, there were some bright spots. Seniors Richard Hicks, Milton Wilson, Ken Sackett, and Juniors Rahmin Botschekan and Billy Christen all received post-season honors. Junior quarterback Renato Velasquez threw for over 1,000 yards. Also, the team was made up predominantly of juniors.

One of the factors that hurt the Nobles' chances for a successful season was the rash of injuries that decimated the team. DeJuan Talley, Antone Dourousseau, Jamie Marmolejo, Melven Williams, Scott Roges, and Rahmin Botschekan all missed playing time as a result of injuries. The Nobles found it difficult to overcome these losses.

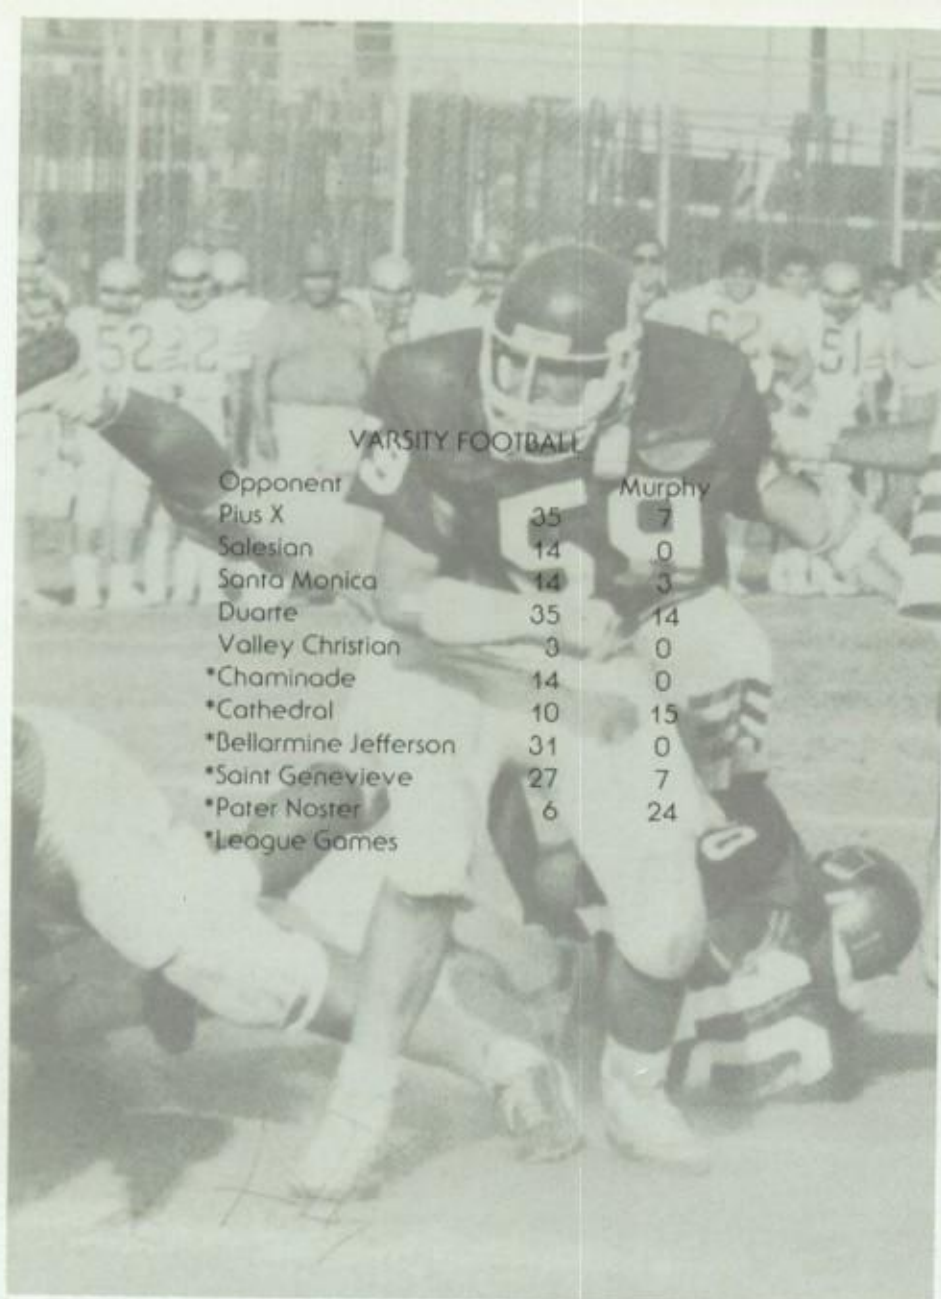

Murphy fought back from its injuries to take two league victories over Cathedral, 15-10, and over Pater Noster, 22-6. The star of the game in both victories was Milton Wilson. He gained over 100 yards and scored two touchdowns in each game. After the season, Milton earned a full four-year football scholarship to San Diego State University.

JV Football

This year the Nobles had their share of ups and downs. The pre-season was successful at 4-1 with many exciting moments. The Nobles only loss was to Pius X High School. The victories came against Salesian, Santa Monica, Duarte, and Valley Christian high schools.

League season was a big disappointment. The Nobles lost all 5 league games. But overall, the team played quite well. Many players showed a lot of improvement and the future looks great for Murphy football.

The outstanding players were Terrence Hendricks, Chris Hudson, Peter Vandenberg, Anthony Wills, Joe Federizo, Wayne Taylor, Mark Campbell, and Jason Foster. These players are to be congratulated for their excellent performances this year.

In conclusion, many thanks to Marroquin and Greg Dixon for their job as assistant coaches.

Cross-Country

This year's Varsity Cross-Country team was a very young bunch of guys. The team had high hopes for being in the running for the league championship. However, due to injuries and other unforeseen incidents, we were forced to go with a more inexperienced team. A new comer to the program, Do Hyung Kim, who ran varsity all season as a freshman, surprised everyone in the league. George Oronoz, our number one runner, continued to break course record after course record and placed fifth overall in the Santa Fe League finals.

The Junior Varsity squad consisted of a few very devoted members. Although having to forfeit a significant number of meets due to the varsity's need for potential scorers, these remaining runners turned in some very good performances. Among the standouts were Ian Arias, who really shined during the latter part of the season, and Eric Racana, who also improved greatly. These guys showed promise for future Murphy teams.

Twenty Years in the Making

For over 50 years, the land currently occupied by Daniel Murphy High School has been the site of educational institutions. Originally, in 1926, the Archdiocese of Los Angeles built, and for 27 years maintained, Los Angeles College, a junior seminary, at Third and Detroit Streets. When, in 1953, the seminary moved to a new location adjacent to the San Fernando Mission, Los Angeles College, under the direction of the Archdiocese clergy, became St. John Vianney High School, a college preparatory high school for young men. Later, in 1956, the Dominican Fathers and Brothers assumed responsibility for the school.

The original brick buildings, of which only the present school chapel survives, were replaced by a new complex in 1966. At that time, the school was renamed in honor of Daniel Murphy, a pioneer Catholic businessman, industrialist, civic leader, and philanthropist.

In 1981 after 25 years of service in the school, the Dominican community transferred to the Orange Diocese, and the Administration of the school was returned to the Archdiocese.

Back to School Night

This school year's Back-to-School night was held on the evening of September 16, 1985. The main purpose of this event was to acquaint teachers with parents and to clarify any questions on their sons' course of study.

As parents started to arrive at 7:30 P.M., they went to their sons' classes according to his schedule. In the classes, teachers gave information on that specific class. They discussed what the teacher expected of the student and what the student could expect to learn from the class.

In general, this Back-to-School night event was similar to an orientation for parents on the new classes their sons would be taking in the new school year.

Homecoming

On the 26th of October, Student Council put on this year's Homecoming Dance with an innovative theme. "In Tahiti" was the background for Homecoming 1985-86. Another change in this year's Homecoming dance was the option of apparel. You could wear a Hawaiian shirt in place of a coat and tie. This brought in many exotice and colorful shirts which enlivened the spirit of the dance.

The Homecoming court was elected at the Pep Rally the day before. This year's Homecoming court was led by King Kenneth Hooper and Queen Rachela Conti.

Past Homecomings were preceded by football games, and this one was no exception. Though our football team did poorly in the first half by trailing Cathedral 0-10, we came on strong in the second half. After the half-time ceremonies, our football team played par excellence. We scored the winning touchdown in the closing minutes to capture the victory 15-10. This victory boosted the spirit of the dance to its fullest.

The atmosphere of the 1985-86 Homecoming dance was both festive and exotic in midst of the "Tahitian Luau" theme. Highlighted by the football victory, Homecoming '85-'86 was a success!

International Fair

Daniel Murphy has, once again, succeeded in sponsoring a community get-together, The International Fair. The Fair reflected the diverse backgrounds of our students, their families, and the community.

They all came to spend a day of leisure at Daniel Murphy. The most popular attraction was the dunk booth which was set up by the Senior class. Here, students dunked their favorite, or not so favorite, teachers into freezing water.

The Fair continued into the evening with the aroma of mouth-watering steak permeating the air.

Our special thanks go to Mrs. Betty Oyama, Mr. Beni Monaco, and Mrs. Kathy Oliver whose efforts made the Fair possible.

All in all, The First Annual Daniel Murphy International Fair proved to be a tremendous success. It will, hopefully, be remembered as the beginning of a longstanding Murphy tradition.

Men's Chorus

While most of you were studying diligently, running track, shooting baskets and hitting tackles, every Monday after school the Men's Chorus was in Annex room 2 learning music theory, intervals, liturgical music, choral music, and pop songs. And why were they learning all of this, you ask? Just like the basketball team, Murphy has an "All-Star" Men's Chorus who learned a great deal about what a Men's Chorus is supposed to be.

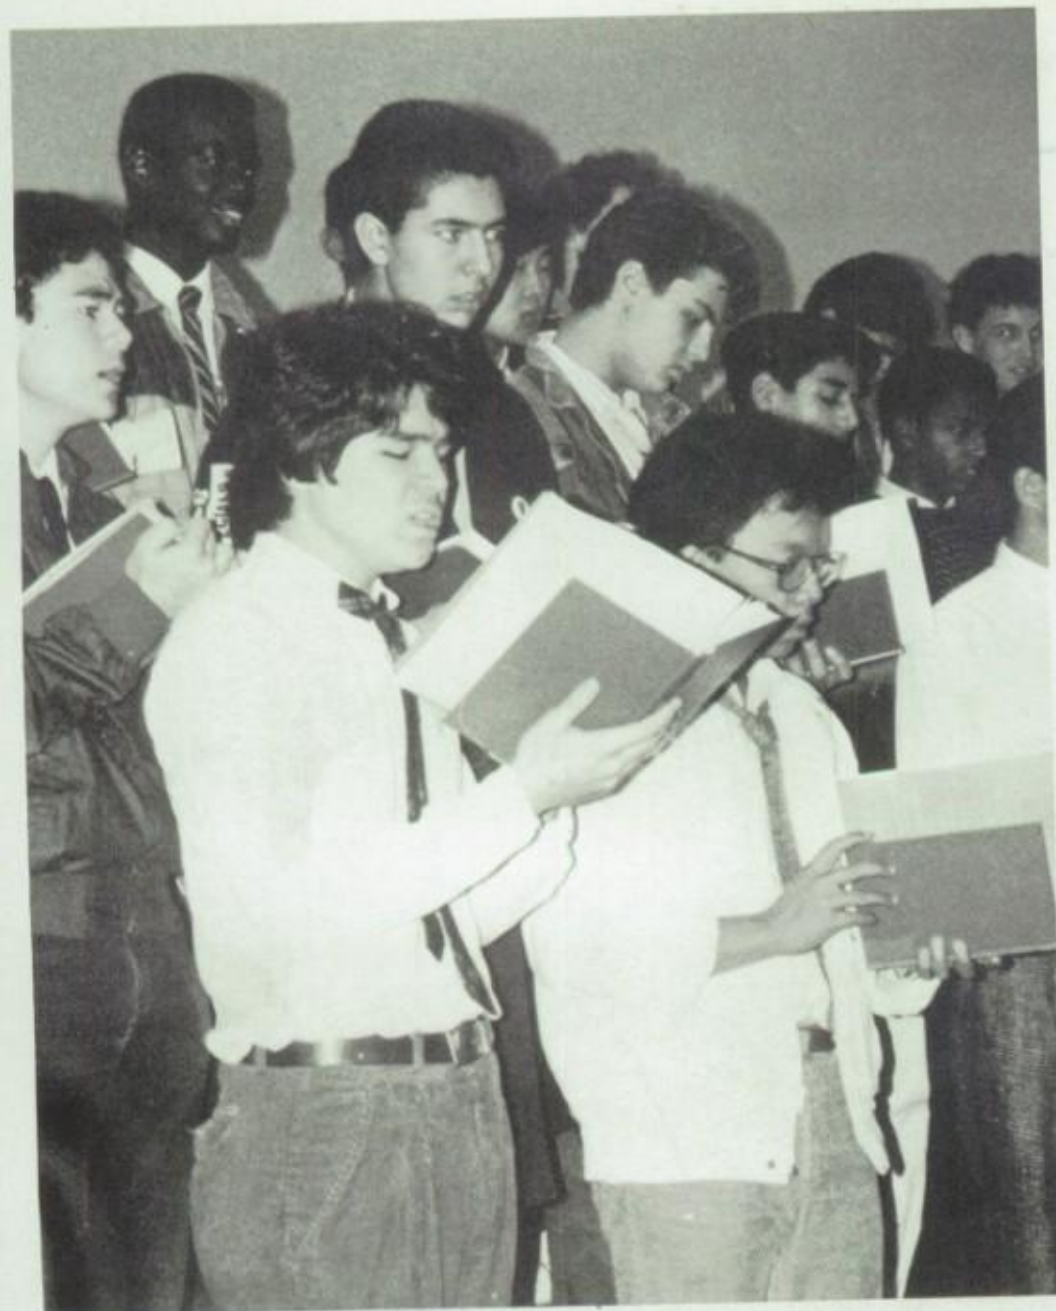

Some of the year's highlights included: Murphy Men being the only Men's Chorus to participate in the evening portion of the Mount Saint Mary's College Choral festival (and doing a fine job at that in front of their female competitors), singing for Archbishop Mahoney in a Celebration of Life for the people of Los Angeles, and preparing for their Southern California Vocal Association Choral Competition at La Crescenta High School (in which they competed against their Notre Dame counterparts who had Peter Park, a Murphy student, as their director). In addition, there is Spring Chorale which features each of the singers sharing his own solo or small ensemble work, followed by all of the Men singing.

Not only does Murphy have a fine Men's Chorus, but many of these same men practice on Thursday evenings with the women of Notre Dame in "The Madrigal Singers," which is a mixed choral group. This ensemble was featured on the Christmas special of the T.V. show "Fame" (yes, Amatullo really is that energetic, and "Twisted Sister" shared our recording studio), which aired two times on the networks. In addition, the singers again received statewide recognition for their singing on their concert tour to San Francisco/Sacramento, where they sang at the state capital in the Rotunda. They received standing ovations at the Mount Saint Mary's College Choral festival and outstanding marks and unanimous superiors for their choral performances.

Ms. Wendy Susank

Our liturgical musicians were Director, Peter Park; Accompanist, Pasquale DeFabrizio; and Guitarist, Simon Quinn. All three men worked with Mr. Stretch to make the Mass music something to enjoy, rather than something to cringe at. Other Men's Chorus members received scholarship money for outstanding attendance and performance. They were Douglas Staine, Mark Rollice, Heinrich Zimmer, Peter Park, and Sean Sharp.

Finally, outstanding, ovations were received by Tim McKenzie for his participation in the All-State Honor Choir in March and April. Tim, not only found out what perfect pitch was, he found out, along with Pasquale, that he had it. We finished the year with a beach party and a senior dinner with the women from Notre Dame.

Men's Chorus, a great bunch of guys in which to spend some great moments with music.

Ms. Wendy Susank

Features

Fiveside Chat

The attention of all was focused on the two super-powers' leaders as they met in a summit meeting in Geneva, Switzerland. The main objective of both sides was to resolve the differences on such issues as the arms race. Several meetings were held in good spirit. Though the major differences were not resolved, it did bring the premiers of the two leading nations to discussion of peace.

Titanic Found

The RMS Titanic was the unsinkable flagship that was four city blocks long, rose 11 stories high, and displaced 66,000 tons. On April 14, 1912, the unthinkable happened. She struck an iceberg and went down to the bottom of the Atlantic.

But on September 1, 1985 at 10 o'clock in the morning, the Titanic was rediscovered by a team from the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution. This summer, they and other expeditions plan to take a closer look at the RMS Titanic.

The Boss

Blue-collar troubador Bruce Springsteen is the undisputed Boss of rock n' roll. His songs about Vietnam veterans, steelworkers and factory workers hit many responsive chords with all ages of Americans. The "Boss" tour across America in his famous faded blue jeans and red cap appealed to the average working guy. Music groups have been known to reach the peak of their popularity during a tour, and Bruce Springsteen was no exception. His "Born in the U.S.A." album included such hits as "Dancing in the Dark," "Going Down," "My Hometown," and the title song to his album "Born in the U.S.A."

Mexican Earthquake

On September 26, 1985, a devastating earthquake hit Mexico City at 7:18 A.M. It lasted four minutes and was measured at 7.8 on the Richter Scale. Approximately 250 buildings collapsed, 2,000 people died, and 5,000 people were injured.

After 36 hours, there was another 1-minute earthquake in the rural areas of Mexico. It caused less damage; around 180 people were killed.

Flight 847

A Trans World Airline jet with 145 passengers and eight crew members was hijacked in Athens, Greece, in June. The Shi'ite hijackers took the plane to Beirut, then to Algeria, and then back to Beirut. Most of the hostages were released within days but the remaining 39 hostages were held for 17 days. One American was killed. One of the most troubling aspects of the incident was that it was the third high-jacking that week in the region.

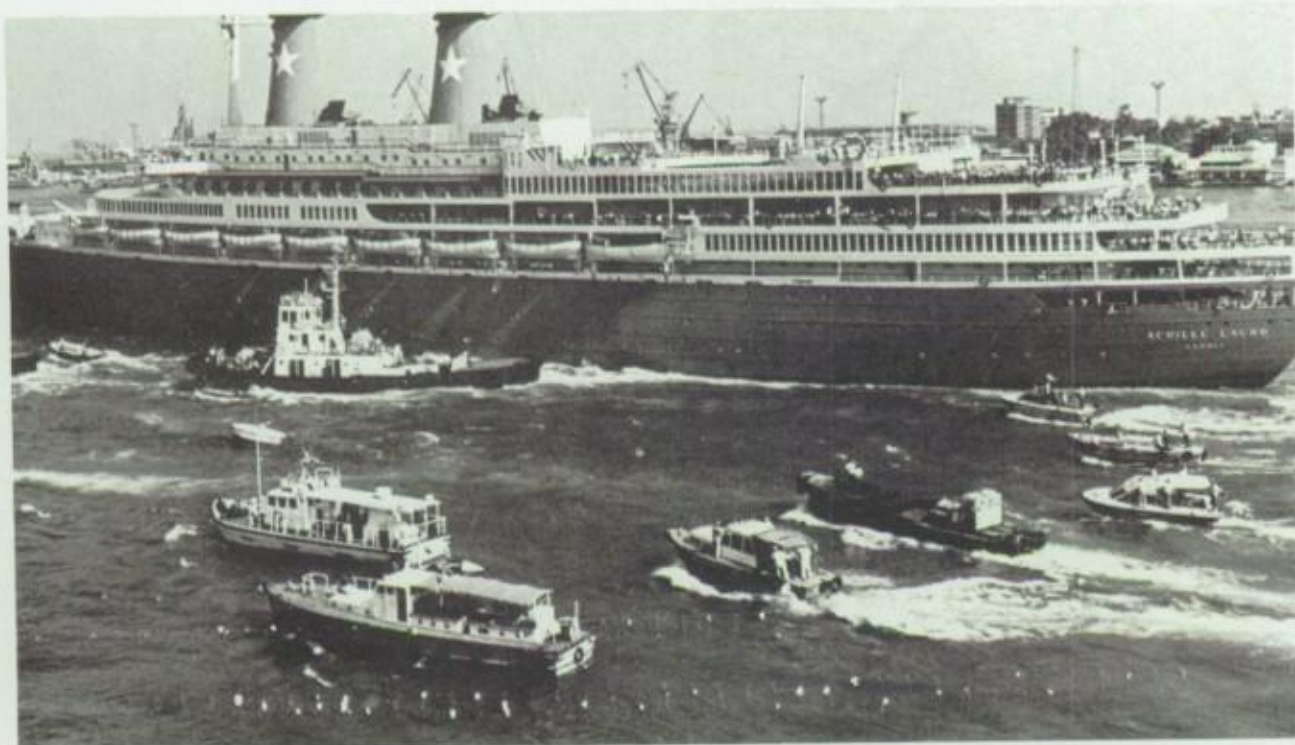

The Big Knock

September 17, 1985: It was a historic night in baseball history!!! Before 56,354 emotional fans at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium, Reds player-manager Pete Rose broke Ty Cobb's long-standing major league hit record. The Big Knock, the 4,192nd hit of Rose's illustrious career, was a single to left field on a 2-1 pitch from San Diego Padres pitcher Eric Shaw with one out in the first inning. A thundering ovation from the crowd stopped the game for fifteen minutes.

Terror on the Sea

Four Palestinian terrorists hijacked the Italian cruise liner Achille Lauro while on a Mediterranean cruise. One American, Leon Kinghoffer was killed. After the ship was released the Egyptian government agreed to return the hijackers to the PLO. However, the hijackers were intercepted by American jets as they were flown out of Egypt and returned to Italy to stand trial.

1986 Varsity Basketball

In 1982, head coach Jim Tinker conceptualized a personal dream and a goal for Daniel Murphy High School Varsity Basketball. By the end of the 1985-86 season (Coach Tinker's fifth at Murphy), he had succeeded in making that dream a reality . . . for himself, his players, and the school in its entirety.

The quest to realize this dream began with hours of spring practice last May. It continued with a successful summer, amidst tough competition such as Muir, Gardena, and Dominguez Hills high schools. Summer gave way to a grueling fall, which included intense hours in the weight room, in the gym, and with the track coach. This hard work and dedication showed the determination with which the Nobles carried out their quest. That determination inspired the team to an exciting opening-game win over highly-ranked rival Saint Anthony. Winter's cold could not be escaped, though, and the team suffered severe losses in poor showings at both the Amador Valley and Chaminade Christmas tournaments. The Nobles persevered, however, and their spirit resurfaced to catapult them to an 11-win and 1-loss repetition as Santa Fe League Champs. The above attitude existed in the persons of the following: seniors — David Carter, a good shooter and defensive player; Clinton Robinson, a good rebounder at back-up center; Milton Wilson, a powerful scorer and rebounder; Mark Esperrago, a nifty reserve guard; Courtney Toliver, an outstanding outside shooter and forward; Eric Aubry, a tenaciously superior defensive player; Jon Wilson, a great outside shooter and the team's most inspirational player; Kenyatta Kalisana, a forceful rebounder and scorer at power forward; Lance Malveaux, a total package — rebounder, scorer, defender; Arthur Phillips, 6 foot — 9 inch, All-American center — an excellent shotblocker and a strong rebounder; and Andre Gougis, starting point guard; and juniors — De Juan Talley, a strong reserve power forward; David Irie, a great hustler and team player; and John McKnight, a great passer with an accurate jump shot.

The determination in these players ignited a spirit throughout Daniel Murphy which boosted the Nobles to five extremely exciting — sometimes frantically desperate play-off victories. And on March 8, 1986, what had been conceptualized in 1982 was actualized in the form of a CIF Southern Section AA Division Championship. This substantial accomplishment marks Murphy's first sectional championship in over a decade, and only the third in the school's history. Though only a few of the players received outstanding awards in extensive recognition of their efforts, the overwhelming euphoria that every player experienced that day in the Los Angeles Sports Arena, when the entire Murphy Community quaked in triumph, will never be matched or forgotten.

Coach Tinker, Coach Finn, Coach Hart, Teammates, Cheerleaders, Student Body, Parents, and Administration, we had a great year! I thank you all . . .

Let us toast, now . . . To Dreams!!!

JV Basketball

In a year that began very meekly with seven, small, yet enthusiastic athletes, we witnessed the growth of a team which would eventually win a Santa Fe League title. To single out one individual, one moment, or one game would be unfair and an incorrect validation of a true team performance.

The essence of this year's Junior Varsity team was spirit — a "spirit" fired by determination, self-discipline, personal improvement, belief, and intense enthusiasm during practice and games. Our practices were fast and our style was fast. We were enjoyable to watch and enjoyable to coach.

With the season coming down to the last game, a game we needed to win at Bell-Jeff, against a team which previously defeated us we, were down by a dozen at halftime. In that classroom at halftime with not much to say, by coach or athlete, it all became clear — the season, the game, our character. At the end of the buzzer, we won by a dozen points and celebrated at court side a most meaningful game, season, and relationship.

"We are the Champions" in every sense of the word — on the scoreboard, on the court, and off the court — thanks guys for my most enjoyable season.

Sophomore Basketball

Daniel Murphy is so rich with talented basketball players that this year we had a Sophomore basketball team. The members of the 1985-86 Sophomore basketball team were Derrick Stroud (guard), Ernesto Durango (forward), Fabio Castillo (guard & forward), Alkarim Lalji (center & forward), Ricky McCormick (center), Louis Morton (guard), Andre Edmund (forward), Laejon Bailey (guard), Scott Langley (guard & forward), and Mike Brasshires (guard). This bunch of great guys were coached by Victor D. Hayes.

Though their record was a break-even 5-5, the team always played 110 percent. The season ended on a good note. They blew out Pilgrim, and excellent team, 79 to 50. Outstanding performances were turned in by Ricky McCormick who scored a smashing 23 points, Ernesto Durango who scored 19 points, Derrick Stroud with 12 points and 8 assists, Fabio Castillo with 12 points and 5 assists, Scott Langley with 14 points and 4 assists, and Alkarim Lalji who scored 9 points.

A couple of weeks before the actual start of the basketball season, the Freshman Basketball team was honored with a visit from a former Murphy student, athlete, and all-around good person, Brad Wright. This individual, who led UCLA to a basketball title, enthusiastically spoke to these young men regarding attitude. He tried to impress upon them how they are the key to the future of Daniel Murphy basketball and how the tradition and excellence of Daniel Murphy basketball depends on them.

Mr. Wright made these individuals feel proud to carry on the Murphy tradition in basketball. He also set a very good tone that lasted for the duration of the season. This very fine team posted a 16 and 6 record and became runners-up in the Santa Fe League. This team owes its success to team work. The hard work each player displayed on the court, the constant willingness to improve oneself, the team unity, and many other intangibles that cannot be described contributed to the overall team success.

Many say this team is comparable to this year's Senior class when they were Freshman. Maybe so, all that can be said is that if this talented group of young men stays together, and if they continue to improve and keep having the same success on the court as well as off the court, a CIF title is well within reach.

Pep Rallies

Is the Pep Club just a bunch of wild guys doing outrageous things to raise school spirit? Yes — and then some.

As you should know, the crowd's reaction is a major part of the player's confidence. Keeping this in mind, the Pep Club set out to boost school spirit, higher than any other year and to motivate the spectators in our favor.

They succeeded in inspiring the team players to push themselves to the limit at every game. Not only were the players more motivated to win, but so was the crowd. They would be 100% behind the team. There was a tremendous turn-out at all the games. With the help of the Pep Club, the crowd cheered their team on — all the way to CIF championship.

Soccer

The 1985-86 soccer team, lead by Head Coach Jaime Marroquin and Assistant Coach Matthew Byrne, started in November with more than forty athletes — only seven of them returning from last year's team — trying out for twenty-two spots on the team. The season commenced with a 8-2 pre-season victory over Saint Anthony. Over the Christmas break, we were eliminated from the Eisenhower tournament in Rialto after Eisenhower themselves came behind in the second half to defeat us in a hard-fought game.

Murphy finished a disappointing fourth out of five teams in the Santa Fe League. It was a disappointing finish because of the many games in which we played well but ended up losing. But such is soccer, a low-scoring game, which is not necessarily won by the team who plays better all-around, but by the team who puts more goals into the net. The fans who watched us play saw that our offense had some problems with doing just that, and our young, defense made some costly mistakes keeping the ball out of the net. We played well against Chaminade and LaSalle, two excellent teams. We held Chaminade to 0-3, and we scored 5 goals against LaSalle — the only league goals scored against them by any team all season! The games which were especially exasperating were the two very close losses to Cathedral.

Two players, senior forward Tim Lewis and freshmen forward Ted Morris, made the Santa Fe All-League Team. Tim Lewis had the team in goals with 9 goals and 2 assists; followed by Ted Morris with 5 goals and 4 assists; Sigfrido Guerra with 2 goals and 2 assists; Louis Nunez with 1 goal and 2 assists; Tim Foy with 1 goal and 1 assist; Steve Genewick with 1 goal and 1 assist; and Benjamin Gonzales with 1 goal.

Our outstanding defensive players were sophomores: Steve Genewick (goalkeeper) and Hector Perez (fullback). All in all, this year's team was an improvement over last year's, and next year's team promises to be stronger and more experienced.

Making Waves Murphy Style

Once a month the Murphy gym is converted into a magnificent dance floor, which means a dazzling array of lights, loud funky music, long ticket lines, and a tremendous turn-out.

If school spirit exists at our school functions, the Murphy dances are definitely proofs of this.

As an un-official supplement to D.M.H.S. alma mater, it is said that dances will forever be 'live' at D. Murphy High."

for Acknowledgement

In each and every school, there is always one teacher who goes beyond what's necessary to give help and guidance to those in need of it. This year, the yearbook staff would like to acknowledge the hard work and dedication of Mr. Michael Yuhasz. He was always there for the members of the class of 1986 and they shall indeed remember him for all his help and guidance.

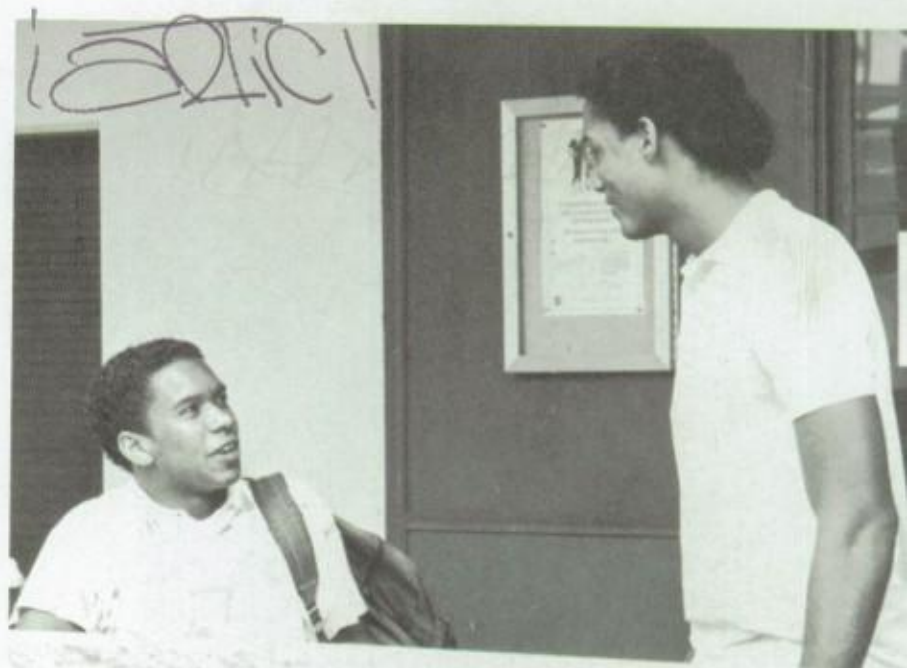

A Day in the Life of Andre Gougis

In years to come, will you be able to remember what you did on a particular day in your high school life? Probably not! The purpose of these two pages is to give an account of what a typical student's routine might be like when he is out of class.

Andre Gougis was chosen as the student to follow and photograph because, in the opinion of the yearbook staff, he exhibits all the characteristics of a well-rounded student. He has excelled in sports, kept his grades up, and has contributed much of his time to school and other outside projects.

Religious Affairs

As Jesus died, He spread out His arms between heaven and earth in the everlasting sign of God's covenant with us. He reconciled all things to the Father by the blood of His cross.

This reality of God's reconciliation is made present in our lives by the celebration of the Eucharist. Christ reconciles us to one another and to His Father. We enter the church as hundreds of individual people, each with his own cares and problems, loves and joys. As we pray together in the Mass, we become the very voice of Christ to His Father. Jesus draws us into the eternal relationship between Himself and the Father. So, as the priest raises the host and chalice and sings, "through Him, with Him, in Him, in the unity of the Holy Spirit . . ." he holds in his hands "Him" who makes all things new. The work of classes in English, Spanish, algebra, chemistry, art, and computers, the sweat of athletic competition, the compassion of Christian service programs, the typing and duplicating of the office staff, the volunteer labor of parents for their sons, late nights of preparation and grading papers, all that makes up the life and work of a school like Daniel Murphy is joined with the eloquent voice and action of Christ, uniting all things with the eternal value of the Father's love for His Son. All that we are and do becomes part of that harvest which has everlasting worth and which never dies.

Christ gives unity and eternal meaning to all we do. Christ makes us better than we are. Christ present in Eucharist, Sacrifice, and Sacrament.

Science Fair

The Science Fair put on by the Science Department required much work and dedication by both teachers and students alike. Mrs. Barak, Mr. Sheehan, and Mrs. Moore devoted much of their time to planning and publicizing the event. The students who participated were from all of the sciences: Physics, Chemistry, Honors Chemistry, Biology, Honors Biology, and Earth Science. The projects for the most part were individualized, although some group projects were accepted into the competition.

Prizes were given to the top three students in each science and to the top two students in each class period. The criteria for judging included: neatness, knowledge about the topic, how thorough the topic was explained, and the effort put forth.

Campus Ministry completed its first year at Daniel Murphy and oh, what a year it was! Retreats became an anticipated event for the seniors and juniors. This year, the seniors enjoyed their first retreat in years. Nearly one-third of the Senior Class trekked to Vallyermo in the high desert region of California to spend three days getting closer to the members of their class and to God. A beautiful, spirit-filled experience was had by all.

The juniors joined forces with the women of Immaculate Heart in the Spring on a retreat focusing on friendship held in picturesque Lake Arrowhead. Being true to the spirit of the theme, many good friendships were born. In fact, some retreatants took the theme to heart (literally), as evidenced by the informal retreat reunion on Prom Night! (Right guys??)

Another mainstay at Murphy inaugurated this year was the Day of Recollection. All four classes participated in a special day dedicated to a special theme. Students were able to see teachers and classmates in a different light, outside of the classroom allowing them to relate on a deeper, more personal level.

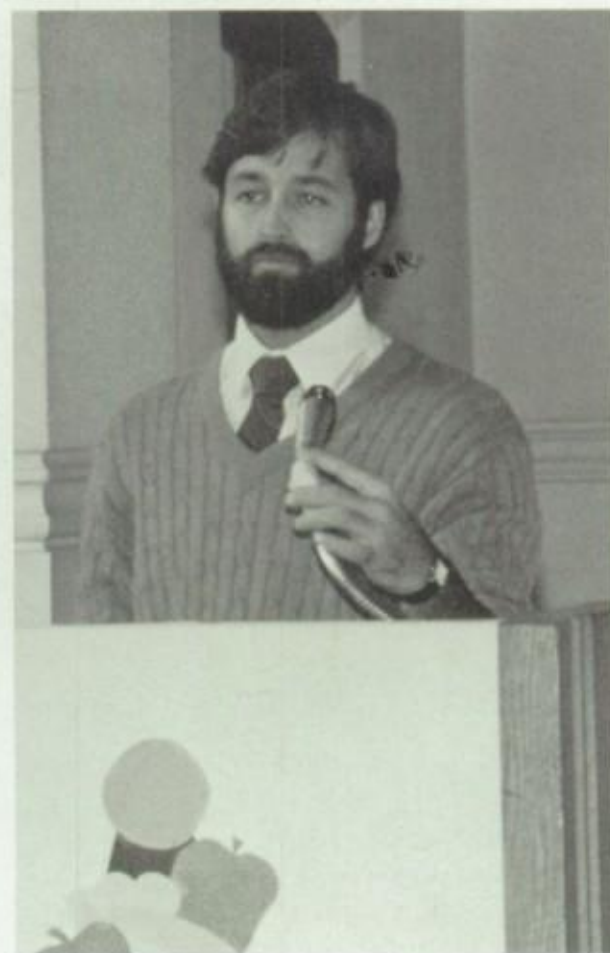

Students themselves were responsible for much of the planning for the Days of Recollection, as well as the student body Masses. Many participated as servers, lectors, ushers and were also involved in the liturgical processions. Many guest priests from neighboring parishes celebrated Mass with us and took part in our Advent and Lenten penance services. The Ash Wednesday para-liturgy and the annual May Crowning of the Blessed Mother were also other special occasions that were celebrated by the school as a whole.

A special Mass celebrated by Bishop Ward was held in the Senior Court. Murphy students received the Sacrament of Confirmation. Four of the students also received the Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist and of Reconciliation. One student, Benson Lin, was welcomed into the Church at his Baptism. Congratulations!

Behind the scenes of all these events was the diligent Campus Ministry student group. Special thanks go to President Bryan Glover, Vice-President Jesus Carrete, and Secretary-Treasurer Francisco Bravo and, of course, the Campus Ministry staff headed by Sister Catherine and Mr. Stretch.

"It is He who is our Peace."

Senior Retreat

The Seniors accompanied by Fr. Phil Llanos, Mr. Stretch, and Mr. Mestas embarked on a long and wandering journey from Los Angeles to the Valyermo Retreat House and Youth Center, near Lancaster. The first evening established the mood of the retreat. A prayer service was held the second night with a slide presentation of all the Senior memories. A class mass celebrated by Fr. Phil was held on the final day. The students had the opportunity to draw closer to our Lord Jesus, and the mission was successful. Never before in all of the young men's experiences had they encountered honesty and sensitivity from each other; their lives were altered, of course, for the best.

"The retreat was an amazing experience ..."

"The greatest thing about the retreat was being able to express myself freely and to see others do the same."

"... Great, Beautiful, wonderful experience ..."

"... a time for us to reflect on our relationships with our family and friends."

Senior Retreat '86: "War games, football, baseball, hiking, praying, crying, and leaving."

"... an experience that moved everyone who participated ..."

"... it helped me to be open with my thoughts and feelings."

"I learned the true value of friendship and the importance of being close to God!"

Junior Retreat

For two and a half days in an isolated camp in Lake Arrowhead, I learned more about myself than in any other single period in my life. When I say that I wish the retreat could've lasted for about one more week, I'm sure that I speak for every single individual that went on that certain weekend to Lake Arrowhead."

— A Rad Retreater.

"... was a worthwhile and a great experience." — William Campos

"In a span of 64 hours, I learned more about myself and others than I have in all my high school years." — Martin Bonilla

"You really don't appreciate what you have until it is gone." — David K. Irie

"Time went by too fast, but from that time, I learned more of who we are and aren't and also what we can and can't do!" — Efigenio Bautista

"An experience I will never forget." — Joseph R. Kennedy

"We arrived strangers, or at best, mere acquaintances, but were transformed into a community of caring people." — Luis Escalante

"... you just had to be there."

California Scholarship ed

The California Scholarship Federation is an organization whose purpose is to instill high standards of scholarship, service, and citizenship on the part of students of the High Schools of California. To become a California Scholarship seal bearer a student must earn membership in at least four of his last six semesters — one of which must be based on senior grades. Academic requirements for membership includes a minimum of three A's and one B each semester.

The National Honor Society is an organization whose purpose is to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership, and to develop character in the students of American secondary schools.

To be eligible for membership a student must have a cumulative average of at least a "B." In addition, participation and leadership in school and other activities are required.

Murphy students previously elected to the National Honor Society:

ASB Officers

First Row: ASB President; Eric Johnson. Second Row: Vice-President; Joel Velasco, Treasurer; Kenneth Kato. Third Row: Tuan Lam; Secretary.

The year of 1986 has been a confusing and innovatively productive year. Daniel Murphy took the CIF Basketball League Championship and showed the most spirited sense of brotherhood in Murphy history. Our classic Homecoming Dance was probably the best one we've had in years. The colorful decorations, the teriyaki, the palm trees, and especially the exotic Tahitian dancers made the "In Tahiti" affair a night to remember. Our formal Prom which was held at the posh Beverly Hills Hotel was also a big success.

All that's left is Graduation. So good luck and my best wishes to the Senior Class of 1986. Congratulations!

Christian Service took on new meaning as Daniel Murphy as projects by clubs and organizations were enhanced by individual and group projects open to all students. Some donated their time to service here on campus, while others helped at Special Olympics, teen hot-lines, soup kitchens, hospitals, their local parishes, and C.C.D. programs.

At the end of the year, we had an ice cream social and a presentation of awards in recognition of the students' social action and social service for the community. We hope there will be a continued growth and interest in Christian Service volunteer work.

Our special thanks to the Christian Service Coordinating Team consisting of Mr. Ken Sawa, Mr. Stretch, and Sister Catherine.

The Daniel Murphy Security Team is known as a group of responsible men who enforce security at various Murphy functions.

This year's team was a specially dedicated group of guys who preserved the "right attitude" and safety on our campus. Starting with the tremendous response of the first meeting that was held to recruit new members and bring back old ones, I knew that this year's Security Team would be a successful one. A moderator then had to be chosen. Mr. Grantham, a new teacher, filled the position for this year. Mr. Grantham and I organized everything.

Being on the Security Team last year as a junior was an experience for me. I really enjoyed it and I wanted to be more involved with things so I ran for commissioner. So this year as commissioner, it was even more exciting at the dances, etc. I learned a lot and enjoyed working with the Team.

The Radio-Controlled Car Club was formed this year on the foundation of the growing hobby of radio-controlled car racing.

The club meetings were times when members shared their experiences in the sport with others. Some of the seasoned veterans taught the less experienced racers some valuable skills and techniques for racing.

Through constant practice and "hands on" experience with these radio-controlled cars, members choreographed a show for the school during a pep rally. Here, they showed some of their expertise in the sport.

Above all, members of this newly-formed club enjoyed a year of fun and excitement.

The Daniel Murphy Squires are the first high school — formed circle in the nation. The Squires were formed as a religious organization to serve the community and the school. Under the guidance of Father Loomis and the Knights of Columbus, the Squires have accomplished several goals that benefit the school and the community. One of such goals is the raising of funds to support poor families through the selling of raffle tickets.

The Squires would like to thank Father Loomis and the Knights of Columbus for their help.

Voyager 2

The Voyager spacecraft weighs 795 kg (1,753 lb) including 113 kg (249 lb) of scientific instruments. The large antenna is 3.66 m (12 ft) in diameter. Struts at the bottom were attached to the solid propellant propulsion module, which separated after giving the spacecraft its final push to Jupiter. A gold-plated copper record of Earth greetings, sights, and sounds is inside a gold-plated aluminum canister, which has instruction symbols on its face and is attached to one of the ten sides of the spacecraft. On the boom are the nuclear power generators and above this boom is the 13-m (43 ft) magnetometer boom. Two 10-m (33-ft) whip antennas (not shown), which study planetary radio astronomy and plasma waves, extend from the spacecraft's body below the magnetometer boom. Three charged particle instruments perch on the science boom at the right. At the end of this science boom is a steerable platform for opticle instruments.

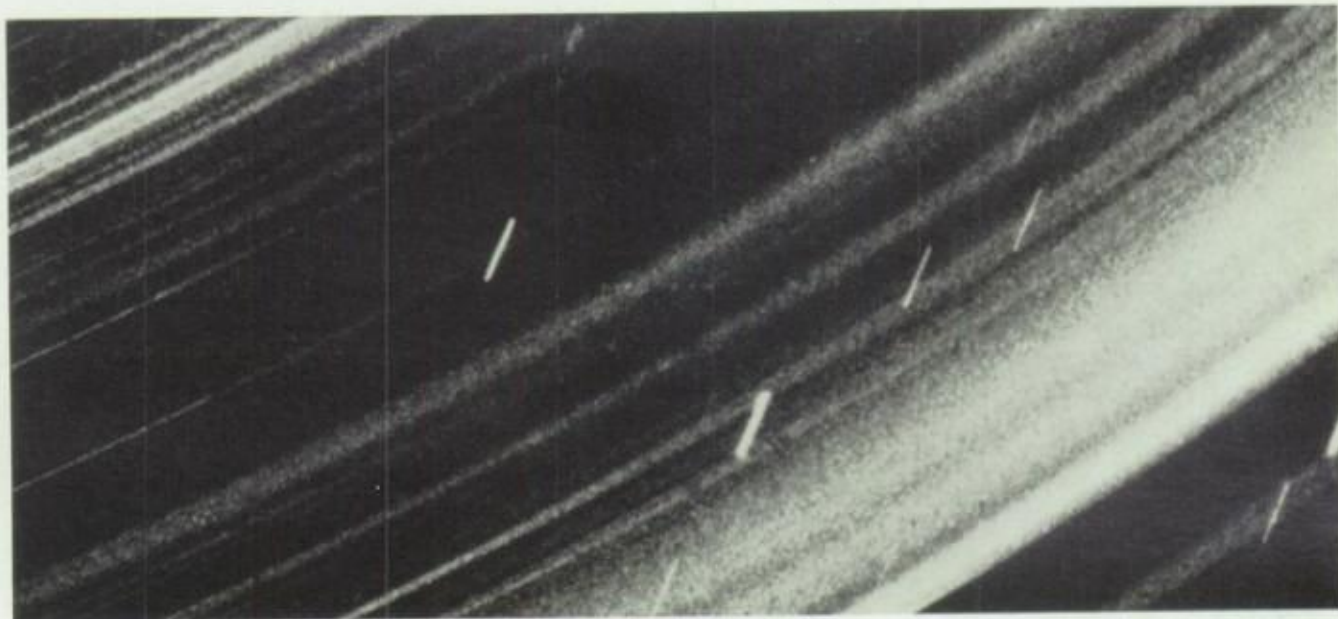

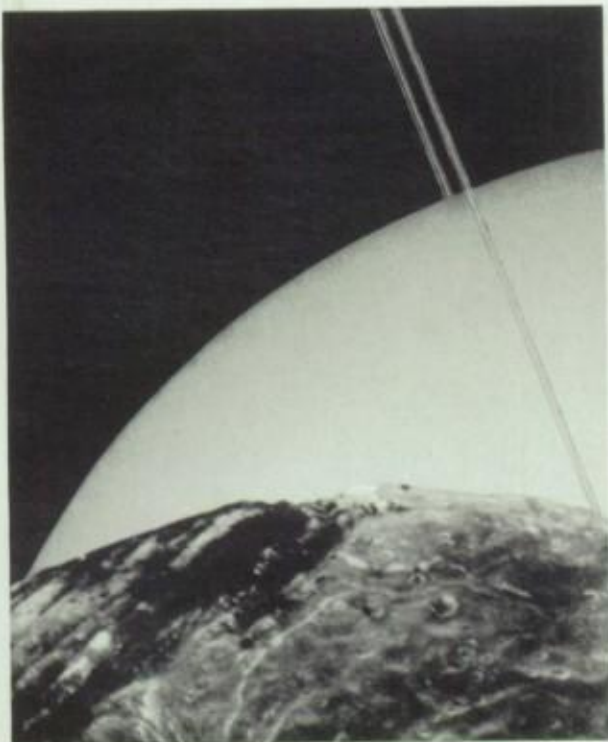

Probing Space

Tracking of and communication with unmanned spacecraft are accomplished through the worldwide Deep Space Network. The main elements of the Deep Space Network (DSN) are the Deep Space Stations based around the globe, the network control center, and the ground communications facilities that link the stations and control center together. For the Voyager 2 encounter with Uranus and Neptune, the three-station Australian tracking complex will be augmented by the use of the Parkes Radio Astronomy Observatory (inset), a 64-meter dish located approximately 200 miles from the main complex, near Canberra in New South Wales. Signals from four antennas, including Parkes, will be electronically combined, as if using one large antenna, to strengthen the signal received from Voyager 2. From the Southern Hemisphere, the spacecraft will appear high on the horizon for about 12 hours at a time, allowing large amounts of data to be captured over long periods. For this reason, much of the highest quality imaging data will be returned while the spacecraft is over Australia.

All pictures and information supplied by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory California Institute of Technology Pasadena California.

Miranda

A future visitor preparing to land on the icy surface of the Uranian moon Miranda might witness this stunning view toward the planet's cloud tops, some 105,000 kilometers (65,000 miles) away. This montage of Voyager 2 images obtained in January 1986, shows Uranus with an artist's conception of the planet's dark rings as they might appear to our lucky tourist. A portion of a Voyager close-approach image of Miranda is arranged in the foreground to show the view along one of the huge canyons that the spacecraft has revealed on the moon's surface.

The Rings of Uranus

Small particles are distributed throughout the Uranian ring system, although most ring particles are larger than 1 meter across. Voyager 2 took this image while in the shadow of Uranus, at a distance of 236,000 kilometers (147,000 miles) and a resolution of about 33 kilometers (20 miles). This unique geometry — the highest phase angle at which Voyager imaged the rings — allows us to see lanes of fine dust particles not visible from other viewing angles. All of the previously known rings are visible here; in addition, some of the brightest features in the image are bright dust lanes not previously seen. The combination of this unique geometry and a 96-second exposure allowed this spectacular observation, acquired through the clear filter of Voyager's wide-angle camera. The long exposure produced streaks caused by trailed stars as well as a noticeable, nonuniform smear.

Uranian Moon

The complex terrain of Ariel is shown in this image, the best Voyager 2 picture of the Uranian moon. The individual photos used to construct this composite were taken on January 24, 1986, from a distance of 170,000 kilometers (105,000 miles). Voyager captured this view of Ariel's southern hemisphere through the filters of the narrow-angle camera; the resolution is about 3 kilometers (2 miles).

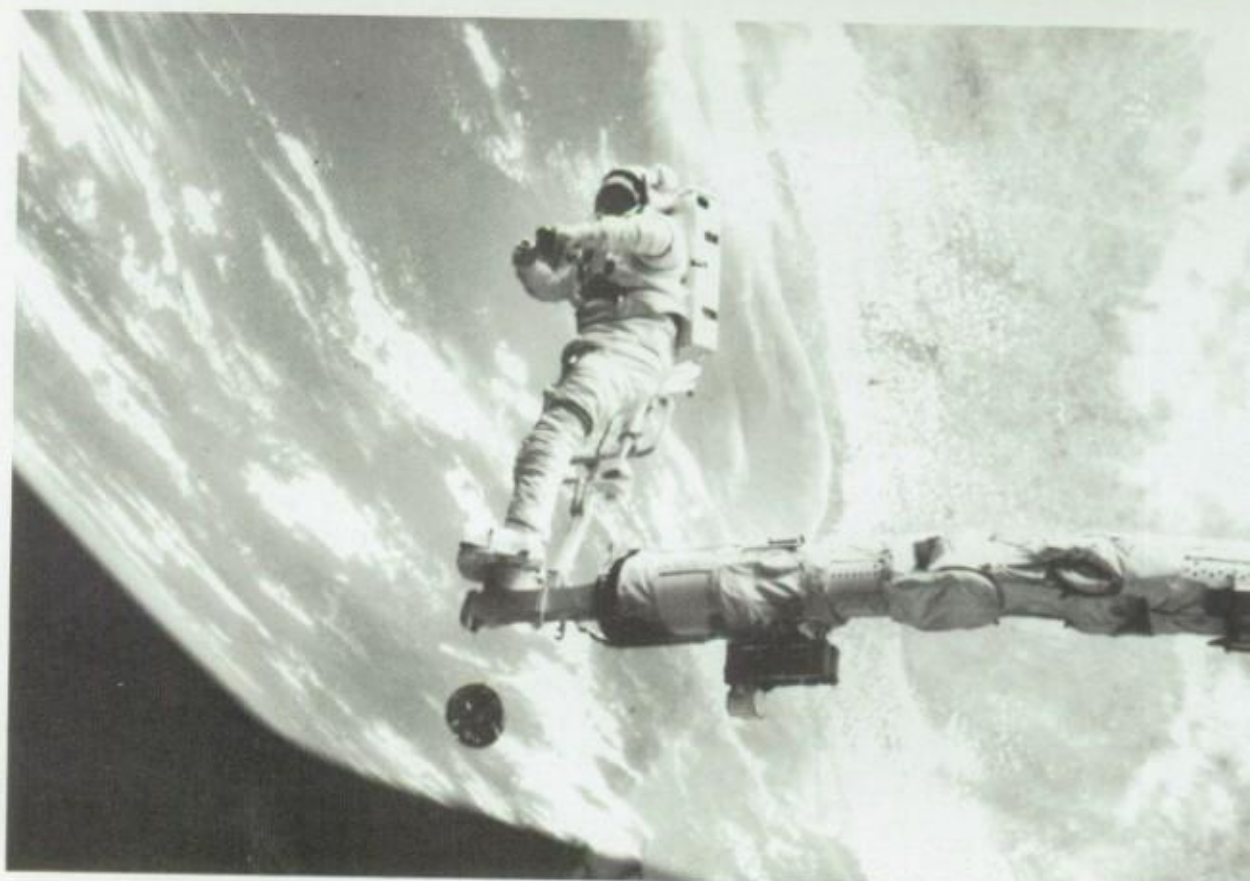

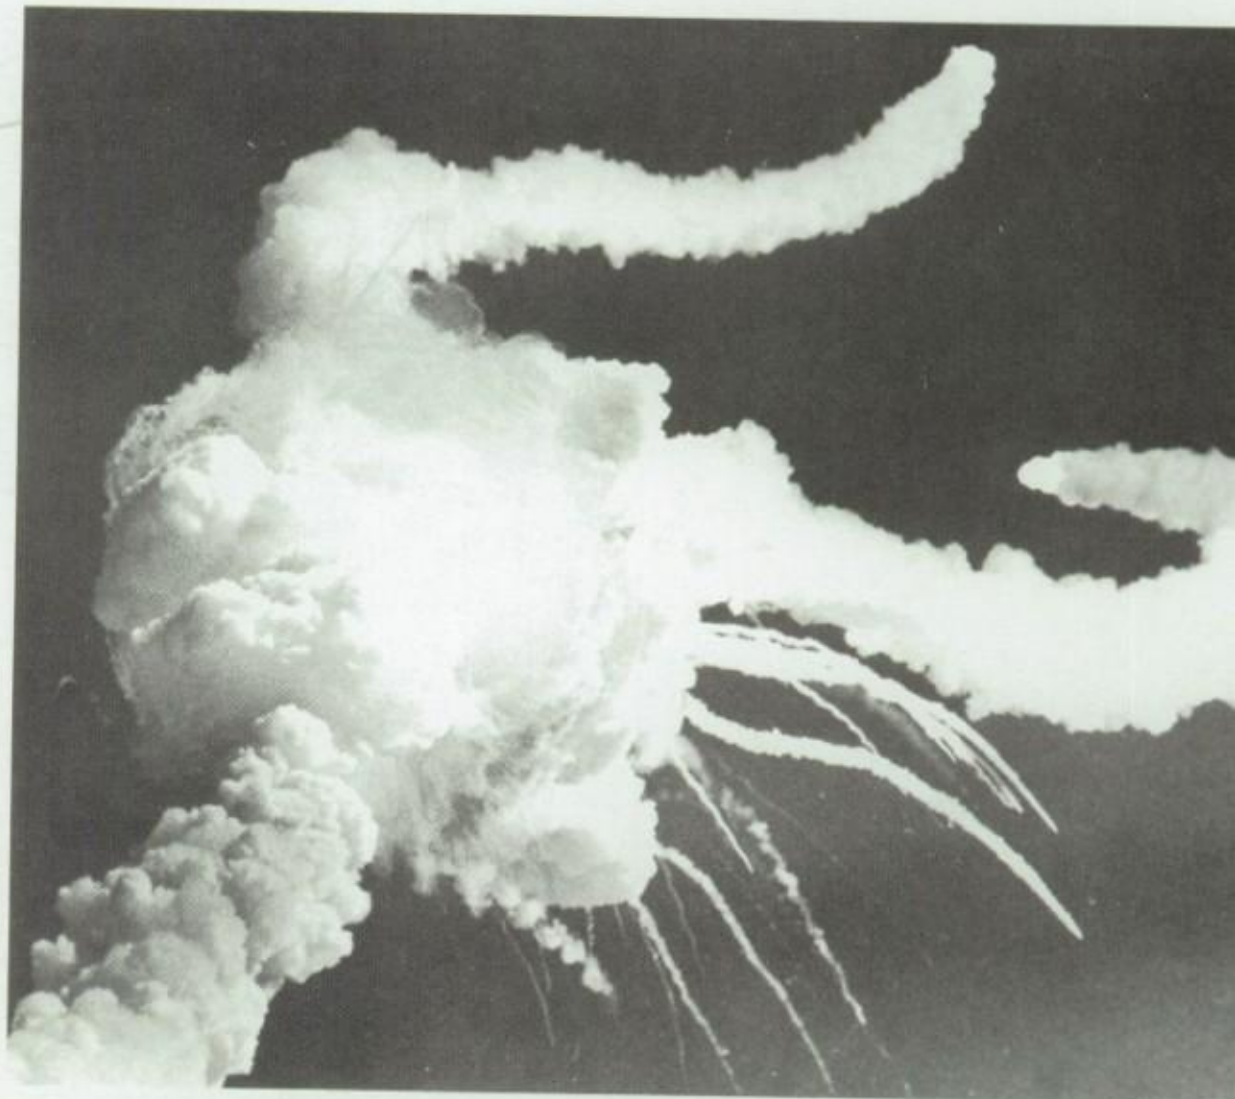

Features

January 28, 1986

The eye accepted what the mind could not: a sudden burst of white and yellow flame, then white trails streaming up and out from the fireball to form a twisted Y against a pure heaven. Disbelief turned to horror as the reality became all too clear: Christa McAuliffe, Commander Dick Scobee, Pilot Michael Smith, Judith Resnik, Ronald McNair, Ellison Onizuka, and Gregory Jarvis had disappeared in an orange-and-white fireball nine miles above the Atlantic Ocean.

The national mood shifted. America wept. Makeshift signs appeared in countless cities: WE SALUTE OUR HEROES. GOD BLESS THEM ALL. Christa McAuliffe was the pioneer and the vibrant symbol of this amazing new era of space for Everyman. An ebullient high school social studies teacher from Concord, N.H., she was to be the first ordinary citizen to be shot into space.

Surprisingly, the Soviet newspaper Socialist Industry reported that Soviet officials had decided to name two craters on the planet Venus in honor of McAuliffe and Resnik.

All pictures supplied by Associated Press.

Teacher in Space

Sharon Christa Corrigan McAuliffe was a wife, a mother of two small children and a dedicated high school teacher in Concord, New Hampshire, when NASA announced last July that she had been chosen to join a shuttle crew. Though she soon found herself sitting next to the President at a White House dinner and appearing on TV news and talk shows, McAuliffe was in fact a startlingly normal American.

"What are we doing here? We're reaching for the stars," she said after entering the astronaut program. Despite her newfound celebrity, McAuliffe never doubted that following her sojourn in space she would return to Concord, to the family she would have been away from for many months and, above all, to her classroom. She told an audience last August, "I touch the future. I teach."

Varsity

The Daniel Murphy Baseball Program was the recipient of an entire overhaul by first year Head Coach George Vranau. As a result, the Varsity Baseball Team rebounded from a 1-11 record and a last place finish in the Santa Fe League in 1985 to a 6-6 record and a fourth place finish in 1986. The record doesn't tell the entire story though, the Nobles were contenders for a CIF play-off spot the entire season. However, had the Murphy "nine" been able to duplicate an earlier win against Chaminade in the last game of the season, the Nobles would have been in the CIF play-offs for the first time since 1978. But that was not to be, at least for this season.

Next year promises to be an even stronger season since the Noble "nine" will only lose 2 seniors — Jaime Espinosa and Courtney Toliver. The team will return with 7 starters on next year's squad, including Santa Fe All Leaguers Billy Christen and Scott Roges. Congratulations on a much improved season.

This year's Junior Varsity Baseball season didn't go as expected. We lost quite a number of games, but we also learned from our mistakes. To be frank, when we won, we won ugly and when we lost, we lost ugly. But with a little more hard work and dedication, we can look forward to a more prosperous and winning season next year.

The 1986 tennis team, coached by Mr. Byrne, and consisting of three seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, and one freshman, enjoyed an exciting and successful season. They placed third in the Santa Fe league, and were defeated in the playoffs by Paso Robles High School in Kern County. From the beginning of the season in February, the team, practicing at Poinsettia Park, improved both individually and collectively.

This year the CIF started a "Round Robin" format in which all of the three doubles and three singles teams from one school play all their opponent's teams. Murphy singles players lined up as follows: Number one — Danny Duran, Number two — Neil Velasco, and number three — Curt Yonezawa. Danny Duran went on to win second place in the entire Santa Fe league for individual singles players — making him the second best player in the league. Danny also played in extremely competitive individual CIF playoffs. The doubles teams lined up as follows: number one — Scott Langley, and Gilbert Kim, number two — Jonathan LaForga and Sung Lee, and number three — Charles Bell and Gene Lew.

Volleyball

Another successful year for Murphy Volleyball! This may seem like an absurd statement because volleyball is not the sport that we boast league or CIF championships. But, success is not always measured in numbers. Often, the records and statistics do not reflect the true meaning and enjoyment of the game.

The volleyball team had a memorable experience in practicing, developing, and honing the skills needed to play volleyball. A deep sense of comradery and team work was evident and always present. As the old saying goes, "It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game."

Track and Field

In May of this season in a stadium in Burbank, Michael Toney anchored the mile relay in our victory over Bell-Jeff H.S. That victory, which established us as League Champions for the third consecutive season, ultimately would be my final appearance as Head Track Coach at Daniel Murphy High School. An era had come to an end — a decade filled with emotion and success. I took the baton exchange from Mike and began the final victory lap with over forty athletes from this year's team. The dust that we created, as we celebrated our League Title Final 440, trailed behind us like a hazy dragon in a Chinese parade. The late afternoon sun filtered through the dust and settled on our backs as we rounded the final turn heading for the finish. The last rays of that day's light were gently settling on a program that had come to be such an important part of my coaching life for a decade at this fine school — a decade filled with fond memories of past successes. As I looked over my shoulder at the victorious smiles of our current team members, I swore I could see the ghosts of Murphy Track with the same radiant expressions: Banks, Wong, Cordero, Rodriguez, Hales, Gray, Thomas, Nall, Landry, Jones, Dejan, Sheehans, Manion, Scharfe, Bland, Perez, Suazo, Kobayashis, Bostons, Jacobs, Sorelo, Ingram, Hall, Colbert, Lynch, Little, Clark, Forde, Arguello, Grinstead, Botshekan, Jacksons, Diaz, Underwood, Cobos, McCain, Bradford, Quezadas, Obligation, Cedruns, Glenn, Baird, Johnsons, Koukos, Greene, Wilsons, Ouplush, Torres, and all those survivors of past hell weeks and actions; in a sense, this was their Victory Lap.

Since 1977 when I inherited the program, young men have run, hurdled, jumped, vaulted, thrown, and toiled for personal bests. The team of 1980, which finished second in the Camino Real League was a highlight of Murphy Track tradition. It had established us a track program of potential and promise. In the season of 1984, we won our first ever League Championship in twenty-eight years of track, and in 1985, we again were League Champions, inspired by Reggie Greene who became the school's first and only CIF champion, posting victory in the mile run in the CIF final last Spring.

But, there were so many other victories and accomplishments, school records, personal records, and awards too numerous to mention. There were the seemingly insignificant things that became mountains of success. They all flashed through my mind as we gathered together in the middle of the track for our final team prayer and Noble cheer. I felt a sense of pride, accomplishment, and loss welling up inside my heart.

They had come by the hundreds, over those years, to run, to toil, and collect the cheers. To reach potentials they never thought true, to establish their records many and few — there were boys who grew to be men, they stumbled and fell, but rose to run again and do so quite well. They were all there now in body and spirit to join in on our final salute to our merit-members in this track brotherhood of Murphy progress, to help us establish — the era of success.

Iron and Guts Mathews

1986 ended a 10-year era for Track and Field, not only with the loss of the seniors to graduation, but also the coach. Terry Mathews, the backbone of Murphy's Track Team, ends his reign as the leader of the track team. After a decade of commitment and struggles, Coach Mathews told us how hard it was for him to leave the program after the hard work, pain, and tears that went into build the successful team he had this year. 1986, not only brought Coach Mathews his third consecutive League title in track, but also gave him a son. Taylor Mathews, Mr. Mathews' first "personal trophy." We welcomed Taylor to the family.

Coach Mathews has always been a great mentor, a terrific friend, and a loving father figure. Although he is only leaving the Track and Field Program, his presence will be missed greatly.

Finally, to Mr. Mathews, for all of the good times and all of the bad times, for the laughs and tears, for the days at UCLA, Jackie Robinson's, Griffith Park, Berton Way, and for all the times you were there. Farewell, and Thanx.

We at Daniel Murphy would like to congratulate this year's 1986 Noble Golf Team for their accomplishments in this sport. With an insatiable desire for winning, they reached many (once thought to be) unreachable goals.

First, due to constant practice and ever-growing experience, all the members of the Golf Team were able to lower their strokes to potentially winning levels. Though this year we were able to win only one match, we came extremely close several others. This year ended with the finals for the team. Because of their tremendous achievements, our members were able to go to the Individual League finals. Results were rather good, especially for Stan Marker. Congratulations should also be given to those who helped the Murphy Golf Team this year. See you next year!

Babes In Arms

For the third consecutive year, Immaculate Heart High School and Daniel Murphy High school have worked in cooperation to present this year's Spring Musical, "Babes In Arms." Through the dramatical direction of Mr. Don Miller, technical direction of Mr. Michael Yuhasz and choreography of Mrs. Celia Garcia, the students were transformed into hardworking, determined, young performers delighting audiences with a very entertaining and well-presented show. Faced with a few difficulties in the beginning, the students rose above their obstacles, proving once again their commitment to the task at hand. Working together as a family, the students had the opportunity to really get to know one another, and as a result, many strong friendships were formed that will continue way beyond closing night. The friendships, the experience, and most of all, the fun involved in participating in the production of a play made this year's musical a great success.

 Technical Director

"Babes In Arms," despite all the impediments, turned out to be a colorful, slick, and captivating show. Most of the credit for the successful look of the show must go to Don Miller, the performance director. He brought the whole thing together even though he lost some key performers during the early stages of rehearsal and lost our wonderfully talented choreographer Cecilia Gomez at a crucial time because of illness. I thought the cast blossomed under his guidance and his professionalism. The crew I worked with at first frightened me because of their inexperience. However, by showtime, they totally impressed me with their dedication, their talent, and their organization. They truly ended up being the smoothest running group I ever worked with in high school theater. I want to really thank Don Miller, Cecilia Gomez, Karl Klein, and all the talented cast and crew members for making "Babes In Arms" something totally worthwhile.

Prom — 1986

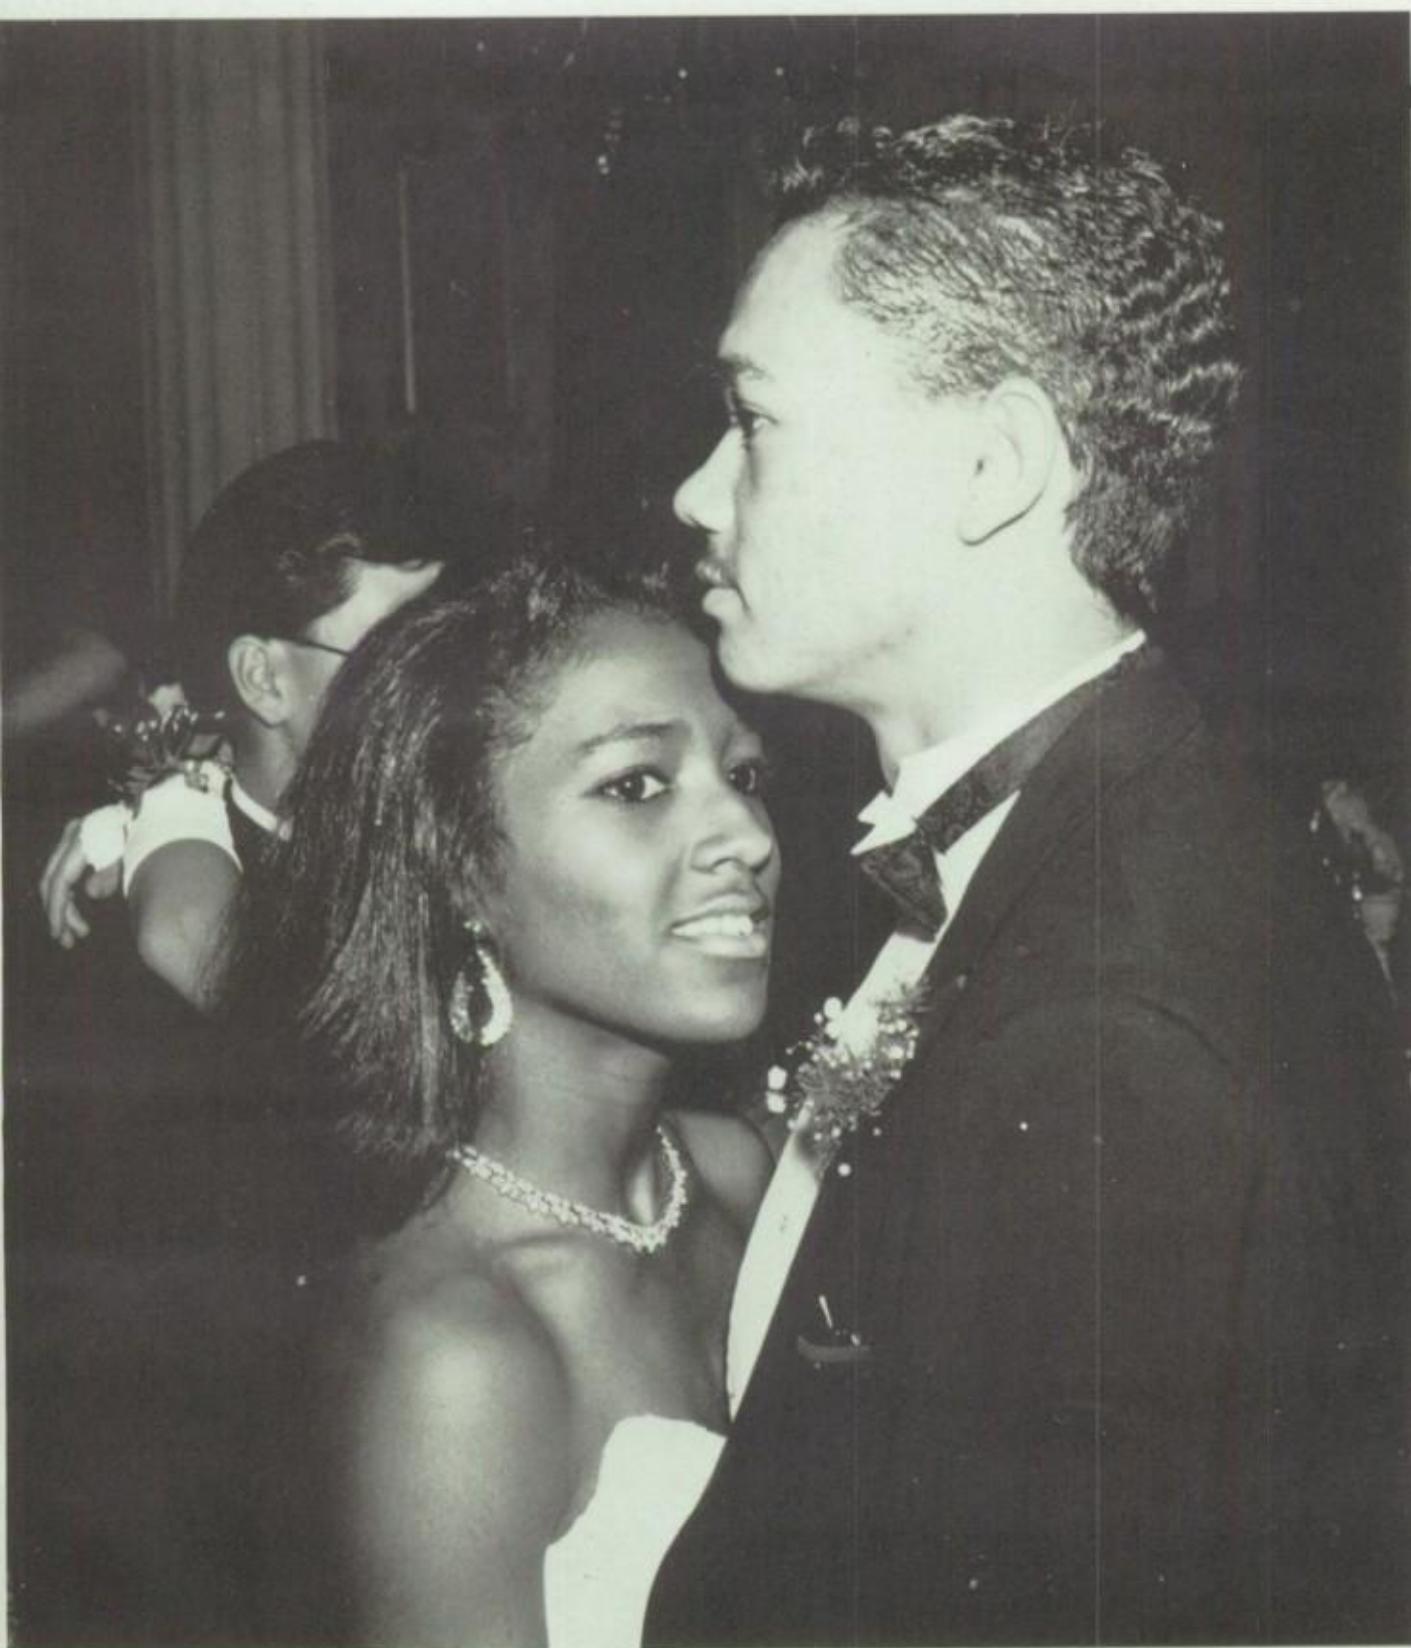

The Prom, there is really nothing I can say, but am I glad it's over. Sure it was fun, but worrying if we were going to get enough money, be able to get a band or a disc jockey, how the food was going to be like, and where everyone wanted to sit could really wear a person down. But, I guess it was really worth the effort when it was finished. In my personal opinion, bid sales were outstanding, the evening was great, the food was edible, the music was pretty good, and (I hope) everyone had a wonderful time.

Of course, the evening would not have been very eventful had we, David Irie, Jonathon LaForga and myself not received the help of several people. At this point, I would like, with serious and undying gratitude to thank Mr. Salassi, Mr. Lopiccolo, Mr. Daly, Mr. Yuhasz, Mr. Vranau, and Mr. Mathews. I'd also like to offer my condolences to next year's Junior officers and wish them well.

It is not an understatement to say that putting together a yearbook that highlights a year in the life of Daniel Murphy High School is a long and detailed process. There are pictures to be taken, processed and printed. There is always a pile of copy that had to be "proofed" days ago. There is always a multitude of details that need close attention and it never fails that one of these details is somehow overlooked, if only for a moment (panic time).

The yearbook staff worked hard to make this Year's edition as good as possible. Our Time, we think, has lived up to the expectations that we all had in the fall after the initial planning stages. Without bragging too much, the staff's hard work and dedication really paid off.

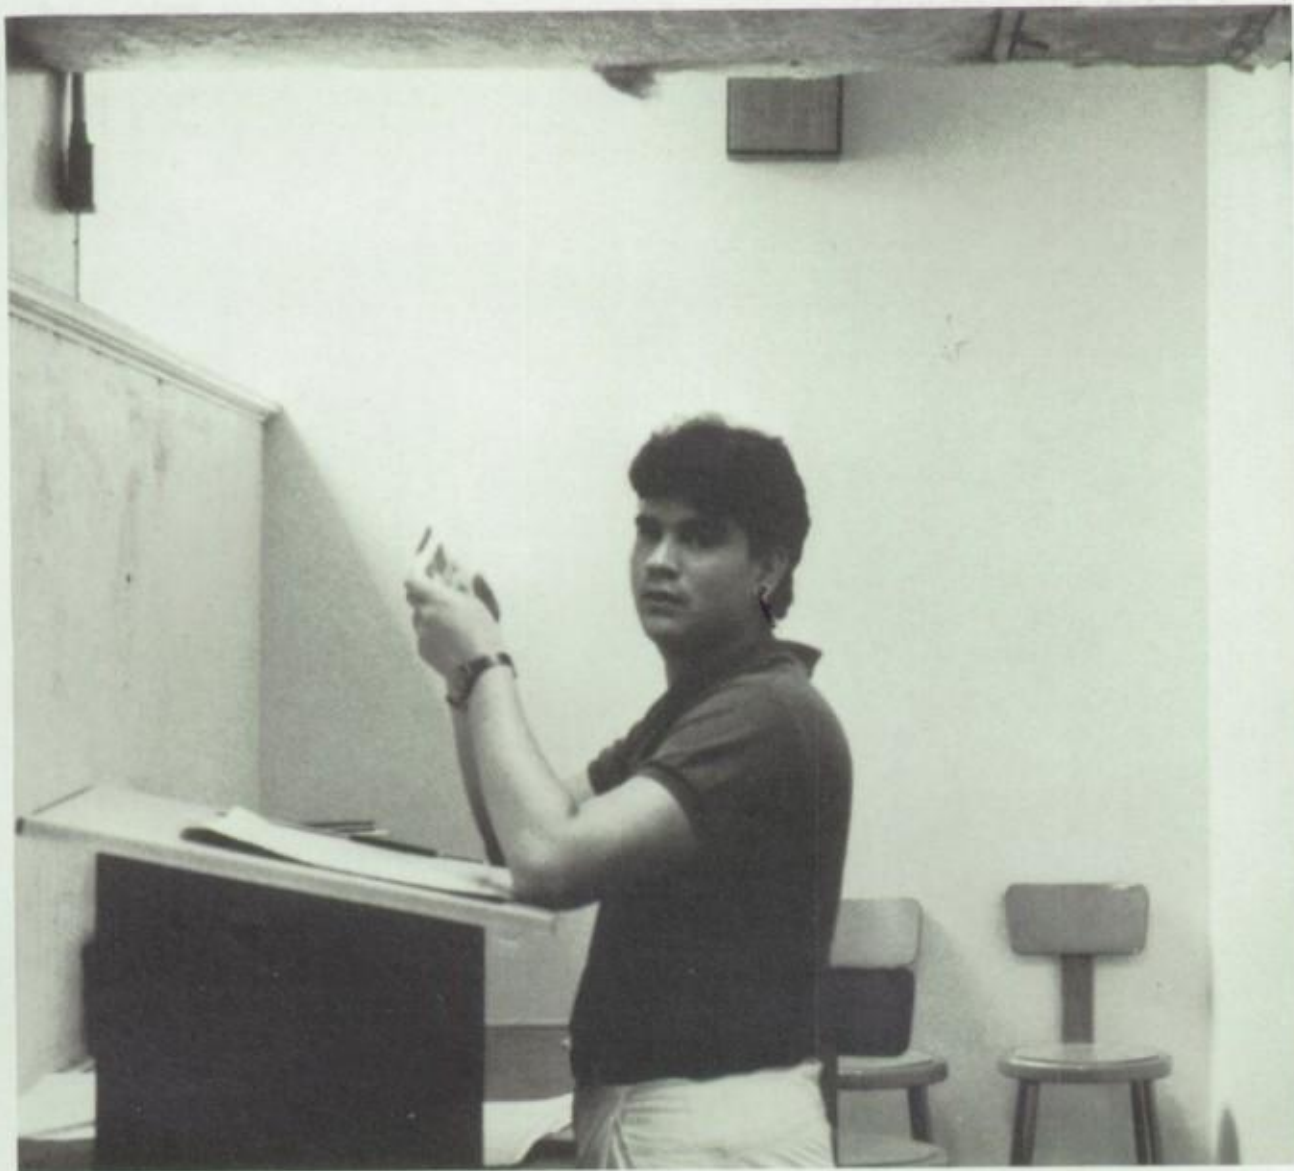

A well-deserved thank you has to go out to the senior staff of this year's book. Joe Park, Jaymer Suarez, and Raymund Torres really did a fantastic job of pulling the various parts of the yearbook together.

A special thank you has to be extended to Giovanni Villanueva, this year's senior editor. Giovanni's technical knowledge, attention to detail, and dedication to producing a quality yearbook was the driving force behind Our Time. Congratulations, Giovanni, for a job well done!!!

Finally, I would like to thank Corey Mundwiler, our representative from Taylor Publishing Company. His help and guidance was always there for us. Thanks, Corey!

Well, by the time anyone reads these words the yearbook staff will be busy planning for the next edition. Our time rolls on.

Halley's Return

When Halley's comet returned this December, it heralded its own return more than any other event. In the past it has appeared close to the birth of Christ in 12 B.C., the conquests of Genghis Khan in 1222, and the birth and death of Mark Twain in 1835 and 1910. It was first recorded by Chinese astrologers in 240 B.C.

Aristotle believed that comets were an atmospheric phenomenon. We now know that comets are made up of a nucleus, coma, and a tail. The nucleus, a "dirty snowball" of frozen gases, is about six miles in diameter and spews out "jets" of gas. The coma, which surrounds the nucleus, is made up of vaporized gas and dust. When sunlight hits the coma, ions are formed, which makes the tail.

Edmund Halley applied Newton's laws to the comet and declared it would return in 1758. He did not consider the "discovery" of the comet his greatest achievement. He died in 1741 never to see the comets return.

We, lucky people of 1986, however, have a chance to see this spectacular comet on its journey. But for all you patient souls who missed this chance of a lifetime, don't despair, it will return in another 76 years in 2062.

Retaliation

Waves of U.S. warplanes, retaliating for the April 5 terrorist bombing that claimed the life of an American serviceman in West Berlin, struck targets in Libya on April 15, 1986 as President Reagan declared that "when our citizens are abused or attacked, anywhere in the world, . . . we will respond as long as I am in this Oval Office."

"Today we have done what we had to do," Reagan said in a brief television address to the nation. "If necessary, we will do it again."

In a deafening roar, F-111 fighter-bombers flew in low over the capital, awakening residents just minutes after 2

A.M. (4 p.m. PST). Seconds later, sounds of explosions rattled and shattered windows, while the sound of aircraft fire peppered the air.

F-111 fighter bombers from three Air Force bases in Britain, along with A-7 light bombers from two Navy aircraft carriers in the Mediterranean, bombed Libyan leader Moammar Kadafi's barracks residence in Tripoli, along with two military airfields, barracks (including Kadafi's), and a military training area in Libya. Targets were in the capital, Tripoli, in the eastern city of Benghazi. White House spokesman Larry Speakes said five facilities were used by terrorists.

Academy Awards

As the lights go down, the sweats "pour," the tensions pulsate, and the hopes run majestically high (esp. for the Warnerses, Univeresalses, Orionses, and Paramountses), the 58th Annual Academy Awards began and ended as tragically as the year before.

"Witness," a fabulous and extremely beautiful movie to look at, walked away with the best achievement for screenplay; but why did Woody Allen's "The Purple Rose of Cairo," one of the best of 1985, where the screenplay was as alive as the movie, not win? The answer: The Woody Allen Snub. For best achievement in screenplay adaptation, the winner both sympathetically and deservedly was "Out of Africa;" after all, Kurt Luedtke spent 2 years of his life compiling the script with only 3 novels, including an autobiography, at his disposal. For best achievement in direction, Sidney Pollack, a marvelous director ("Tootsie"), and "Out of Africa" were all smiles. My question to the Academy is this: what happened to the ingenuity of Akira Kurosawa who directed ("Ran"), Steven Spielberg ("The Color Purple"), Martin Scorsese ("After Hours"), Terry Gilliam ("Brazil") and Woody Allen ("The Purple Rose of Cairo")? And now we come to the most controversial award of them all, the BEST picture award (unofficially known as the "producer's" award). Once again, Sidney Pollack and "Out of Africa" said Cheese. "Ran" must have ran from embarrassment and joined the "Purple" club (though "The Color Purple" earned 11 nominations, it walked away empty handed and felt oh, so blue). Oh, the actors, I almost forgot about the tear-jerkers. Geraldine Page (best actress for "The Trip to Bountiful") who was nominated 7 times before and Don Ameche (best supporting actor for "Cocoon"), whose career has spanned over 50 years were the "Ah, let's give it to them for the hell of it" recipients. Blahh! I've saved the best for last. Here come the messiahs, those who saved their films through career performances. William Hurt (best actor for "The Kiss of the Spiderwoman") has long been, along with Harrison Ford, overlooked and unrecognized for the true artistry he has consistently exhibited over the years. My hat's off to you, Señor. Anjelica Houston (best supporting actress for "Prizzi's Honor") dazzled us with comic Brooklynese oneliners in such a way that Mae Rose Prizzi found a place in everyone's heart. "Honor" sure is a good way to succeed controversy. We've seen the winners, the major ones and the obscure ones. Some are left happy, disappointed, enraged, bored, and ignorant, and some (thank HEAVENS) just plain don't care. I guess what I've hoped to slyly and ironically say is that you should (no matter what your point of view may be) appreciate those who took it in stride . . . just like we've taken this past year in stride . . . day by day.

Memorial Day 1986

During ceremonies in Washington, D.C. on Memorial Day, the names of approximately one hundred United States servicemen were officially added to the black granite slabs of the Vietnam War Memorial. The remains of these servicemen were released by the government of Vietnam during the last several months. They had been listed as missing in action (MIAs) for the last twelve years.

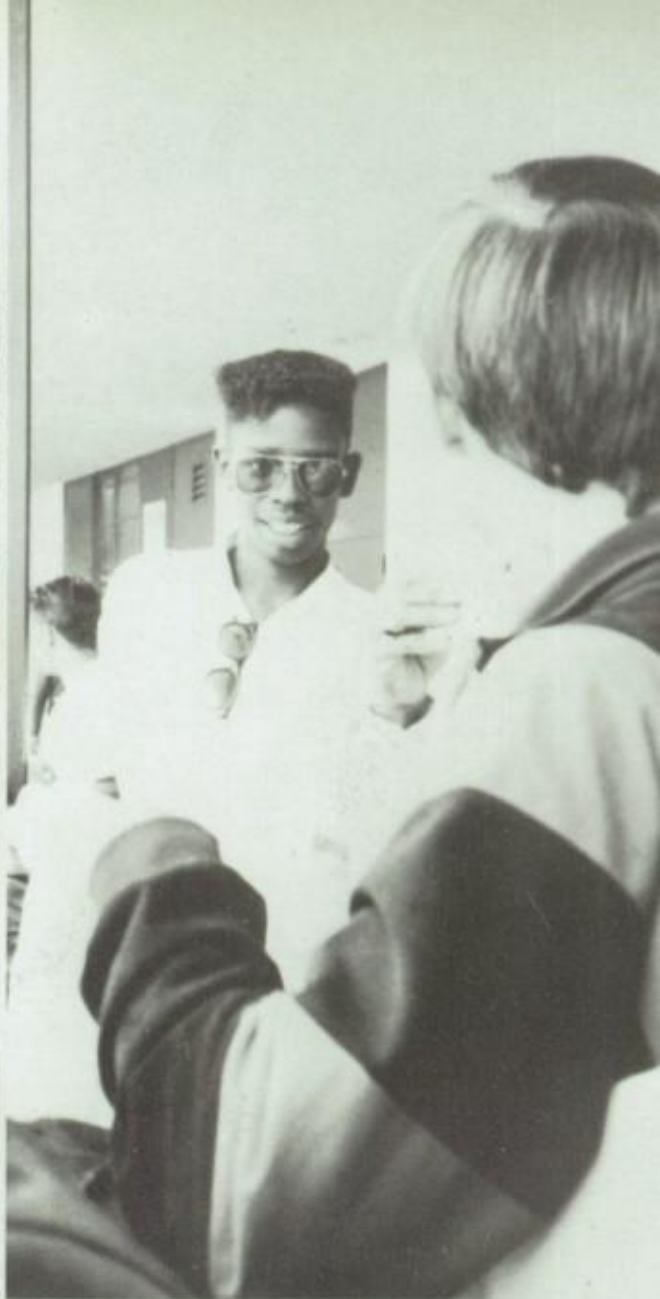

Chernobyl

The first warning came in Sweden. AT 9 a.m. on Monday, April 28, technicians at the Forsmark Nuclear Power Plant, 60 miles north of Stockholm, noticed disturbing signals blipping across their computer screens. Outside, monitors took Geiger counter readings of the soil and greenery surrounding the plant. The result showed four to five times the normal amount of radioactive emissions. Something was wrong — terribly wrong.

They immediately turned their suspicions southward, to their powerful neighbor, the Soviet Union. But when the Swedes and their neighbors demanded an explanation from Moscow, they were met by denials and stony silence.

Thus, began by far the gravest crisis in the troubled 32-year history of commercial atomic power. A catastrophe had occurred over the weekend at the Chernobyl plant where a reactor meltdown and explosion caused untold death and suffering.

The fallout caused an international uproar against the Soviet Union for its lax safety measures and its concealment of the fact that dangerous radiation was floating toward neighboring countries. In West Germany, the antinuclear Greens quickly staged protest rallies under banners bearing the slogan CHERNOBYL IS EVERYWHERE.

Class Officers

Congratulations, my fellow classmen. We are finally seniors. After three much too long years as underclassmen, we have finally reached our goal. We are now at the top of the totem pole.

This year has been pretty good though. The prom was exasperating, annoying, and frustrating, at first, but it finally paid off. The Junior Retreat was an exciting experience that left a lot to be remembered.

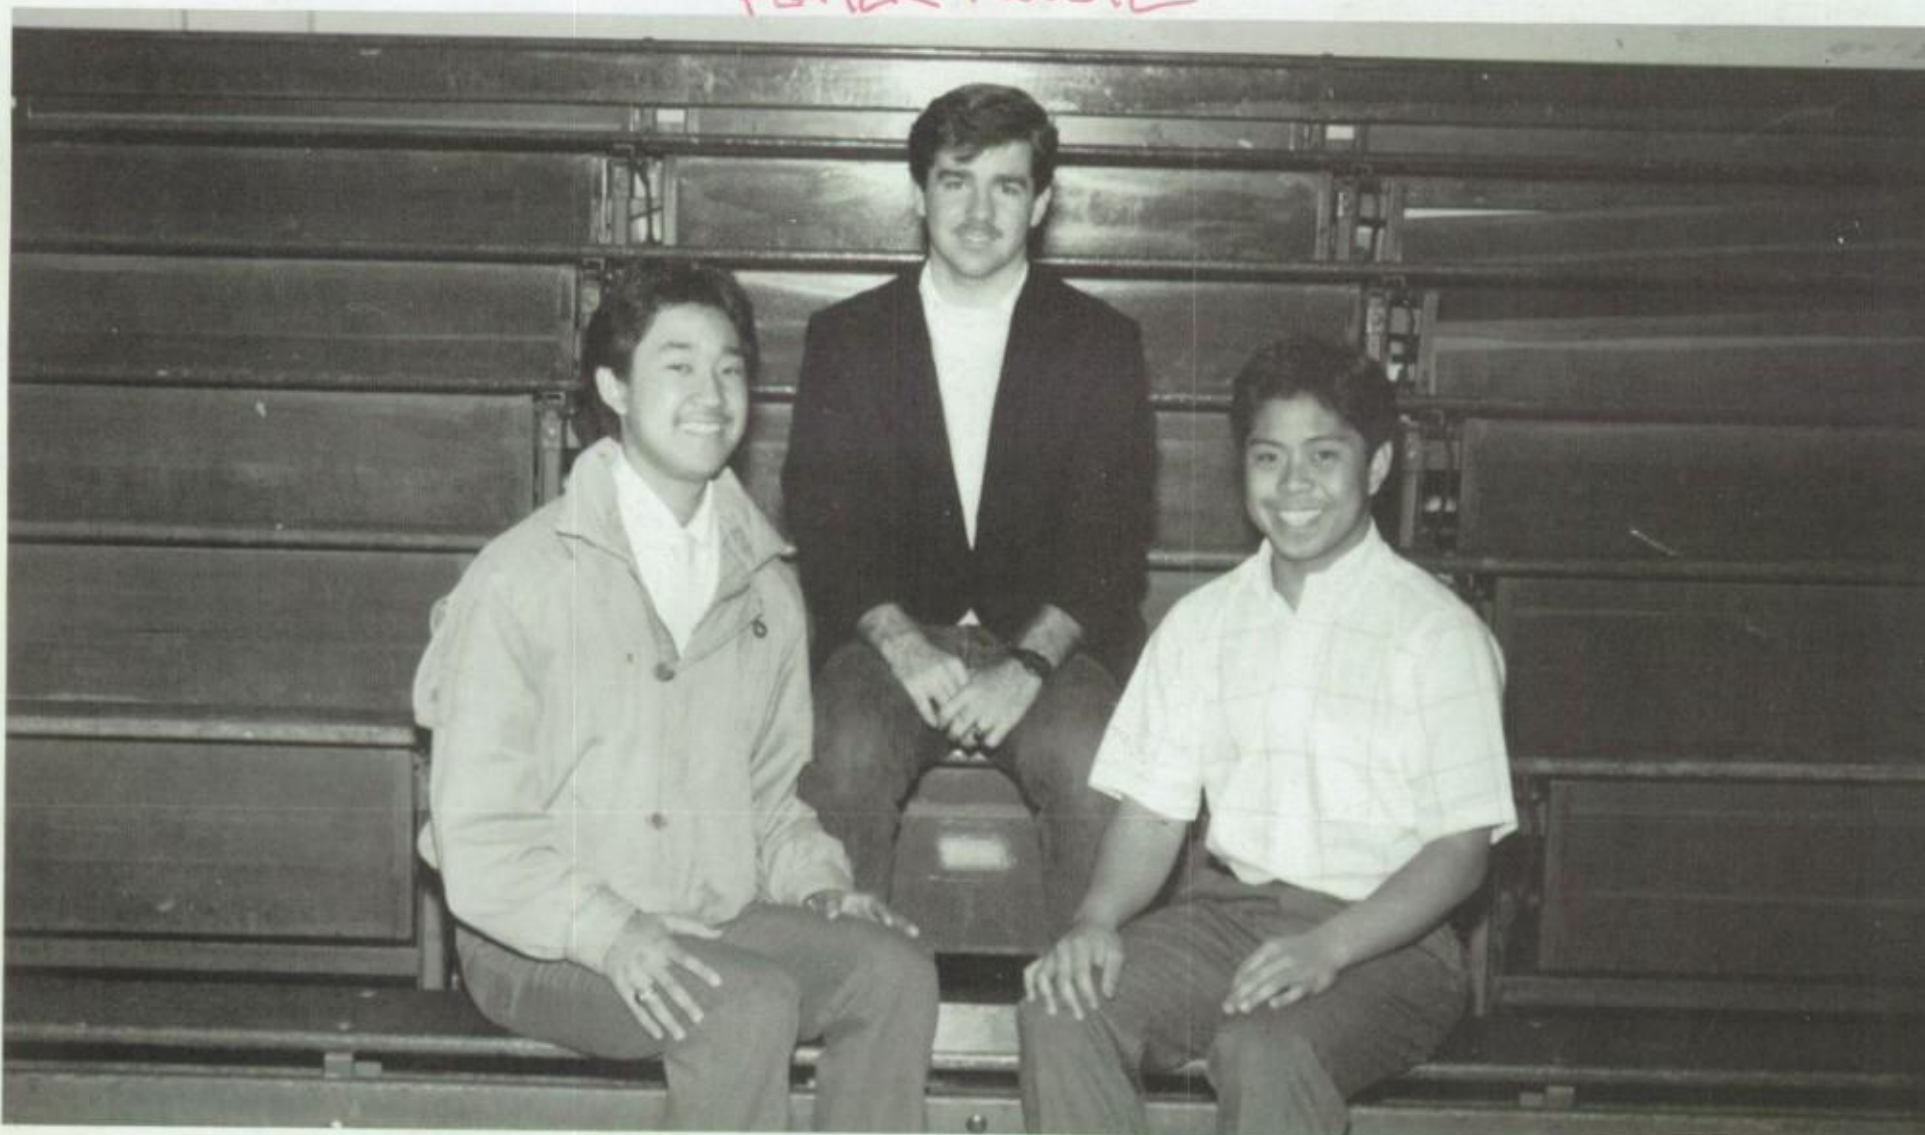

For the past two years, it has been my pleasure and an honor to serve you as your class president. The times have been great, but next year, they will be even better. I will hopefully see all of you next year and for those of you who are not returning to Daniel Murphy, I hope that you will never forget your life at Murphy.

Class Officers

This year was destined to be the best year the Class of 1988 probably will ever have, with the exception of Senior year. Although we had a few students who went astray from the Class, those bad apples didn't spoil the bunch.

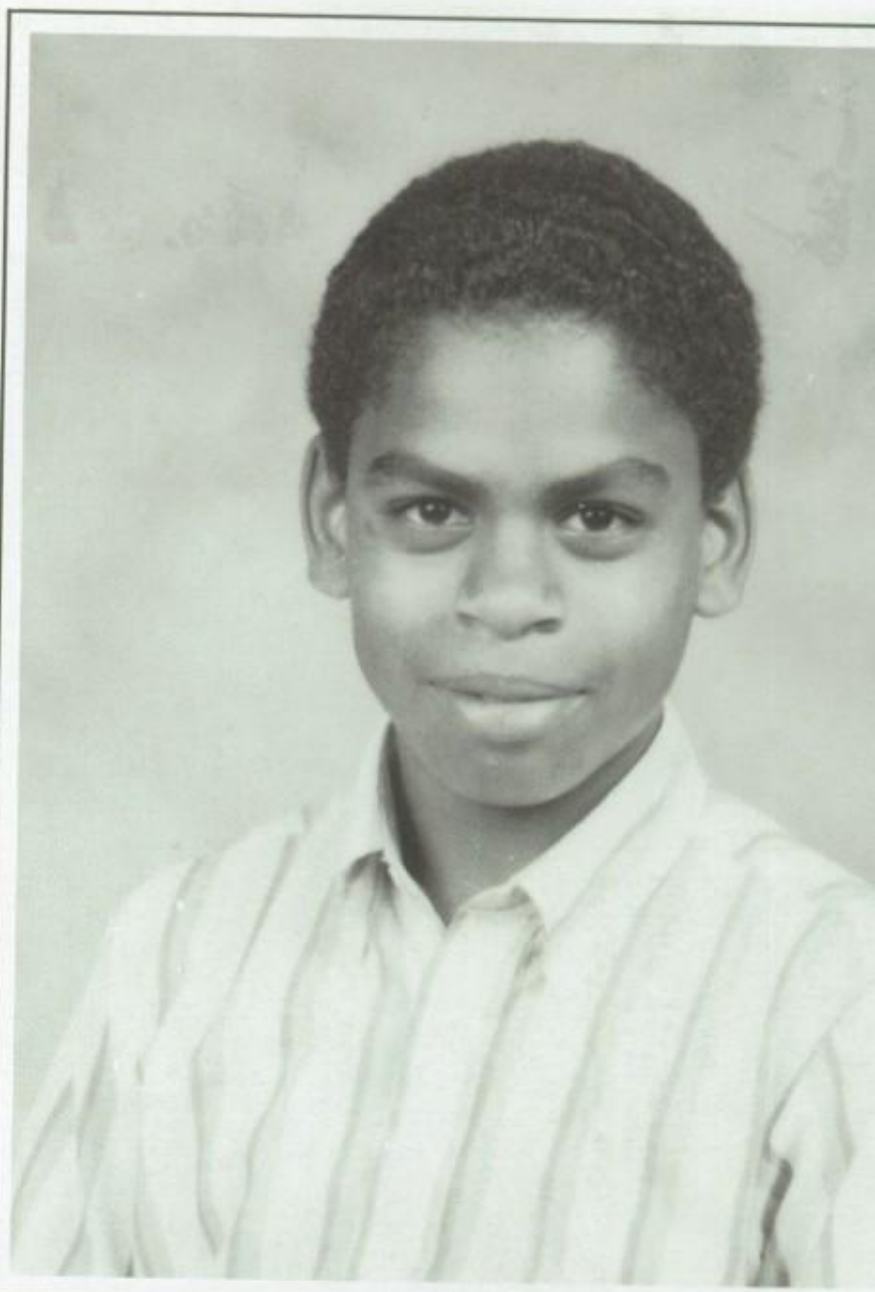

Out of all the things we did as a class, we will never forget our teachers. For starters, Mr. Daly and his English class. His students will remember his long assignments and his five paragraph essays for the final. Next, we have Mrs. Barak and her dislike for basketball, or in her terms "hollyball." We also won't forget her long lectures, review sheets, and her love for dissecting things. Spanish students will always remember Mrs. Salgado vs 100 verbos and the conjugations of all of them.

I think the teacher that we, as a class, will remember the most is Mr. Jackson. Mr. Jackson was our history teacher and class moderator. As a teacher, as one of the classes put it, he lacked a little bit of humor in the beginning, but as school went on Mr. Jackson acquired some humor, became a little humorous. Examples would be his 1,000 word standards, his multitude of referrals, and his changes of tests. But, we think that Mr. Jackson is "cool" and fun. I will like to thank Mr. Jackson for a great year and we will see you again, "In due time."

To the Sophomore class, congratulates for a wonderful year. Keep it up and you will go far as a Class.

Class Officers

My name is Anthony Quinn, president of the Freshman class. When I first took this job, I thought it was going to be a hard job. It was an experience. Some tasks were achieved such as working on special projects with Christian Service members, devoted as much time as possible to my class, and I also tried to make the school year enjoyable!

During the last months of the school year, the Freshman Moderator, Vice-President, Treasurer, and I planned a "Hunger Awareness Week." We had a can drive to help feed the poor of Los Angeles.

The class who brought in the most canned goods received 20 T-shirts which were to be awarded to the top 20 students who brought the most canned food.

Seniors

Class Officers

Fellow Graduates, Teachers, and Friends:

The first day I walked onto Murphy's campus, I knew that the experiences that I would encounter in the next four years would provide the foundation for my future growth — both as a student and as an individual. In the past four years, ALL of us Seniors have grown in one way or another. We have, as a class, matured intellectually, emotionally, and spiritually. In times of jubilation, we smiled together; in times of death, mourned together; in times of hope, dreamed together; and on test days, Curt stayed home. Yes! The unique and diverse personalities of the graduating class and of the faculty have truly made our stay here at Daniel Murphy a pleasurable one. Do you remember? Mr. Hand's Louimobile, Ghandi C., bald Albert, saying the Pledge of Allegiance 720 times, the wild antics of Hooper, LoPiccolo's "Reign of Terror," the Bleacher Busters . . .

We stand, now, as Seniors of 1986, on the threshold of adulthood. The future offers us new challenges in life, in society, and in the world. May the memories of our Murphy experience, of our classmates, and of our hopes and dreams be fostered within all our hearts and may they be an everlasting source of inspiration and growth. Good bye and Good luck!

Four years of memories, some good, some bad, some not even worth remembering, but memories just as well. This book is closed, but another one awaits, and so I'm off, not to read, but to write. My sincerest thanks go out to those who made my memories truly special: my mom, Jimmy, my brother, and especially to all my friends, all of which hold a very special place in my heart and without whom I would never have made it through. Thank you. Good-bye. I love you.

You hear of the unmoved Mover. I tell you the Mover is the only thing moving — Mover of the unmoved. For if life is a journey from infinity to infinity, are you really ever moving at all? The special ones with whom I've stood motionless, the special one with whom I thought I was in motion... I love you always. Now, I bid the Mover... Move me!

Never have I felt So Achieved, so content, so warm within. I have sought for these feelings Since I have realized the existence of others. It was not how many opportunities That were given to me. But it was how I accepted them. Yet, it is too early to presume the meaning of life. Yet, it is too early to regret what I have done. Because I have not yet begun to fight...

My four years here have been a gas. There have been good times and bad times. What got me through the badtimes were my buddies Mel, John Harbor, Hoop, and Hicks. What I most remember about Murphy are the we tripped on the football field and the basketball season. Other things I remember are the times I joked around with Lance, Mike, John, E-Rock, Yatta Raw, D.C. Andre, CT, Clint, and Art. Thanks for the laughs. Thanks to my Mom, Grandmother, and my family.

Fellow students, teachers, administrators and friends, 1986 has been a truly unforgettable year, and, as yearbook editor, I can say that my staff and I have done our very best to capture the special events and people who have helped in making 1986 the unforgettable year that it was.

"Our Time" is the collection of all the events, activities, and people both in and out of school, that in years to come, we will look back upon and remember as being a part of what made our time in high school a truly special time.

A lot of time went into the building of both the content and structure of this book. This book, unlike others in Murphy's past, has changed dramatically in what it covers and in how it is presented. More thought has gone into the use of color pages and layout styles. The amount of pages in the book was increased and the feature sections were used to bring out and keep the theme of the book consistent through out the yearbook.

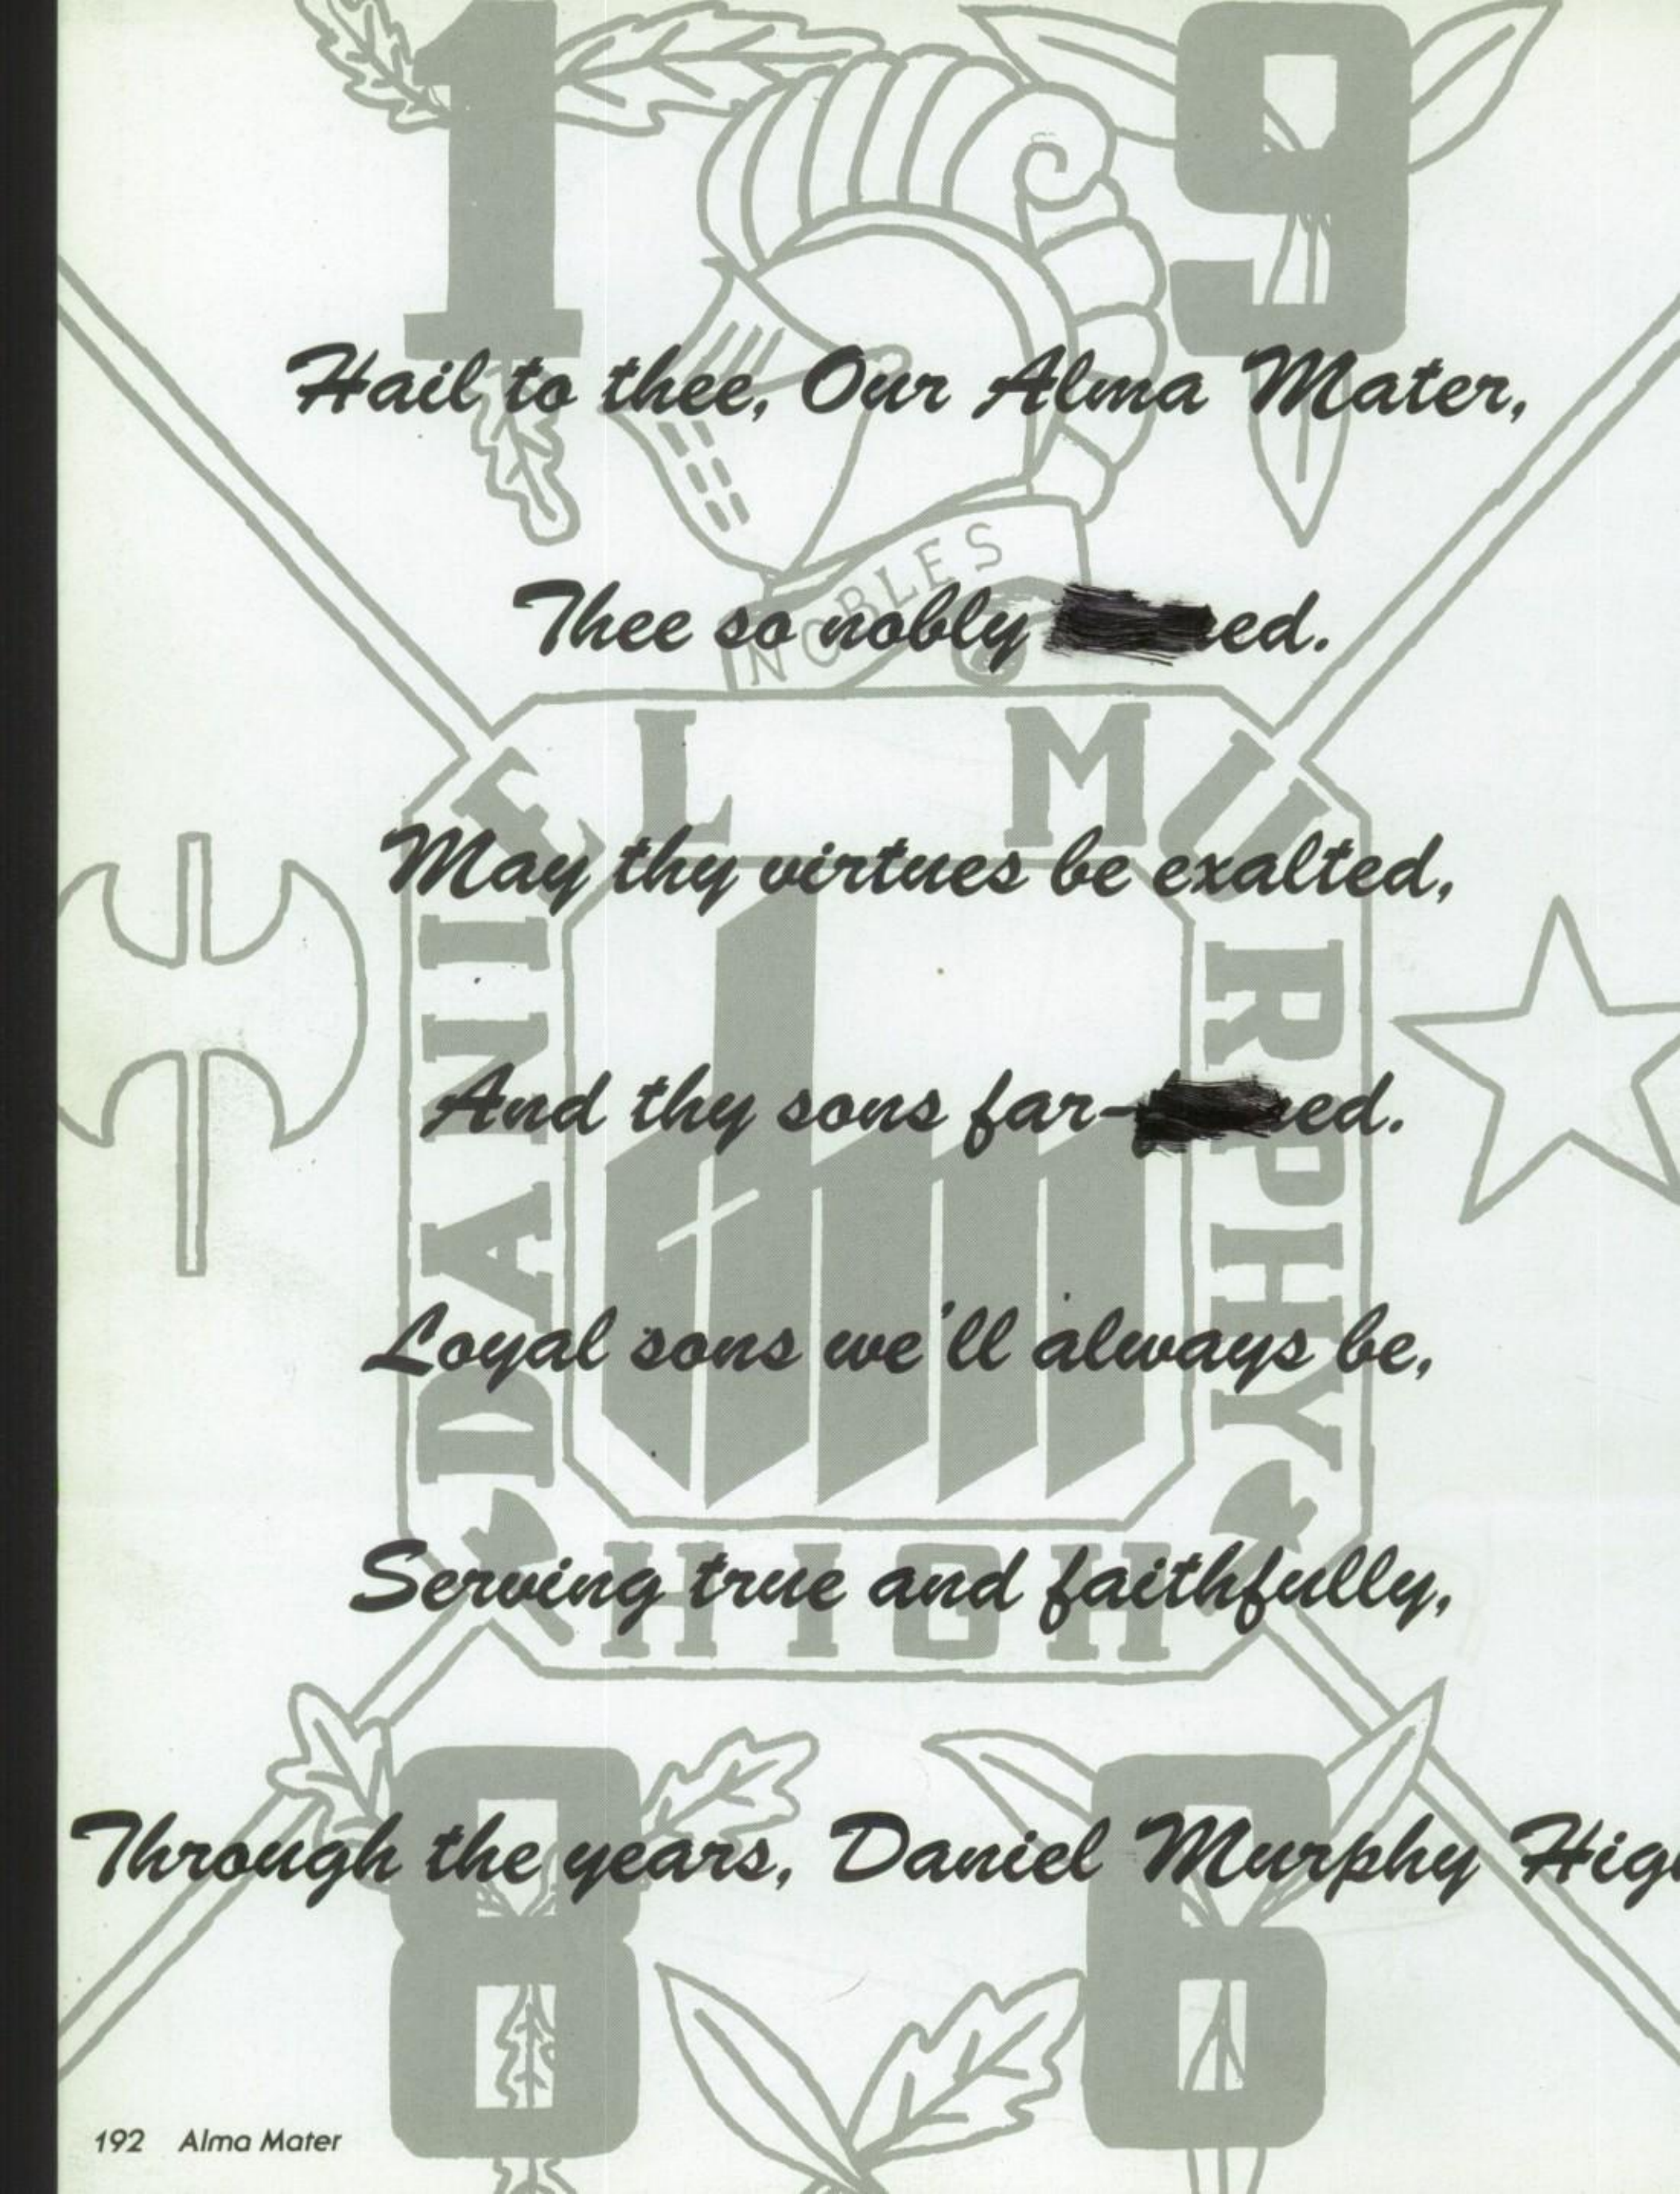

This year's yearbook staff was the biggest and most creative in years. There were over 25 members and each of them worked in the area in which they were best suited. They all worked hard and were dedicated right down to the last dead-line. To them, I would like to express my gratitude for their hours of service and dedication. They were a great group and I wish them the very best in the future. To Mr. Steve O'Bryan, our faculty adviser, thank you for all your help and guidance. I will always remember you and treasure the time we spent in putting together this yearbook. You shall always be a part of "Our Time." Finally, to Mr. Corey Mundwiler, our Taylor Publishing representative, your advice and ideas were of great help to us.

Thank you all,

Giovanni Villanueva
